ated Press Leased-wire Service VANCOUVER (B. C.,) Sept. 26. - The steamer Empress of Japan from Yokohama brought the following letter from the correspondent of the Associated Press: The Japanese military headquarters, now centered at the imperial palace at Tokio, will be transferred on September 25 to the town of Hiroshima, on the inland sea, from which most of the troops and supplies are shipped to Korea. The Emperor started thither on the 13th, accompanied by Countilto, Minister-President, and the Minister expected that any other departments will be transferred, and the general business of the government will continue at Tokio.

The average daily expenditures of the the war is estimated at 300,000 ven, about $150,000. On August 18, voluntary contrioutlons to the army fund from all parts of Japan had reached a total of more than 560,000 yen. The contributions to the naval fund on the same date amounted to over 00,000 yen. At the summit of one of the rominent hills in Tokio a Shinto temple as been erected to the memory of the ebellion of 1877. In this edifice an exhibiion was opened September 12, consisting of flags, cannon, musical instruments and ther spoils captured from the Chinese at citizens attended on the first day, and nearly double that number on the second nearly double that number on the second. Great multitudes of visitors are coming to the capital for the purpose from a radius of fity miles around.

The press of Japan ratis with delight an apparently well-founded report that the official censorahip is to be greatly modified, if not abolished. This liberal measure, if carried through, will be due to the influence of Count Inouye, who has strongly advocated complete revision of the existing press laws. The expediency of organizing privateering expeditions by Japan to harass the coast of China is discussed in the papers of Tokio, and it is stated that several wealthy noblemen are prepared to supply the funds required for the undertaking.

At a ball given by the Japanese Minister to Marquis Satnji, the entire body of court officials was put together with all diplomatic corps, ing the representative of England, whose failure to attend was much remarked.

A Japanese educational society has been formed by several distinguished scholars with the purpose of introducing a substantial system of public instruction into Korea. Considerable money has been sub-scribed for preliminary investigations, and It is proposed to set in operation a number of primary schools in the large towns as soon as permission can be obtained from the government.

The mouth of the Peiho River is close by a barrier which is opened only on each night and morning for the passage of ships. The obstruction consists of heavy logs, fifteen feet long, pointing up and down the river, lying four feet from each other, fastened with two heavy chain cables. The bed of the stream is also thickly strewn with torpedoes. A report comes from Peking that the government, fearing from Peking that the government, fearing the entrance of Japanese ships in disguise into Chinese ports, has asked the foreign ministers to consent that all foreign menof-war, under whatever flag, shall be stopped and held to await thorough inspection by Chinese naval officers. The Chinese authorities believe that Formosa will be the second of sarious conflicts. Described ness authorities believe that Formosa will be the scene of serious conflicts. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.-That offers money were made to the officials for the purpose of freeing James C. Barton, allas "Jimmy Bryant," the diamond thief, is acknowledged by those officials. Whether this same sort of an offer had anything to do with his well-nigh successful at-tempt to escape with six other prisoners from the criminal court last Saturday, is matter which is being investigated by the grand jury.

Considerable comment is being made or the fact that several offers were made to get Bryant's wife released on bond, and that Chief Desmond was told by Bryant's wife that he would lose nothing if he would agree to let Bryant be released. Another thing commented on is that Deputy Sheriff Annis, who was in charge of the cage when the escape was planned and executed is a brother-in-law of Hugh Brady, who was the most active man in the ring to get Bryant's release. Annis denies that the escape was due to care; lessness on his part. Hugh Brady says that he tried to have Bryant released at the request of a Chicago friend, and displays a letter and a telegram in support of his statement. Bryant has a big political pull in Chieago, and it is said that these friends were the ones to advance money to indemnify a bondsman in case Bryant could be released.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26 .- The glove contest between Bob Fitzsimmons of ark, N. J., and Danny Creedon, giving his hailing place as St. Louis, for a purse of $5000, took place in the arena of the Olympic Club tonight. They fought as middleweights at 154 pounds. A feature of importance of the match was the bearing & has to a prospective meeting between Fitssimmons and Corbett.

Fitzsimmons has been most persevering in his efforts to secure a match with the champion heavy-weight, and from time to time has been put off with the ren that he was not in his class. Corbett first named Choynski as the man "Lanky Bob" had to whip before he could talk of match. Fitzsimmons took on the match and then he was told by the champion that he w. 'd have to go with Creedon to place himself in a position to talk fight. Comparatively little was known of Co don by the general public, although the visitors from St. Louis were enthusiastic in their praises of the man. Despite fact, however, Fitzsimmons remained prohibitive favorite throughout, his odds being quoted from 3 to 10, to 1 to 3, w as good as 5 to 2 could be had against

When the men entered the ring for the great contest, Fitzsimmons looked indeed formidable. He was finely drawn, and but for traces of prickly heat, his skin was as white as a baby's. His enormous a ders and chest, when compared with h narrow waist and hips, was particularly marked. His long, lithe arms and limbs were covered with sinuous muscles that gave every indication of terrible force and speed. His every movement in the ring was like that of a panther watching his prey and ready to spring upon it.

Creedon, as he appeared, presented a much stockier look, and all the lines of his symmetrical body indicated strength and excellent condition. Fitzsimmons had much the best in height and reach, but as he stood with the learn further learning the learning had been supported by the learning that he learning learning that as he stood with his legs further than Creedon, it was not so marked as it might have been. There wer

Creedon was the first to enter the ring, closely followed by Fitzsimmons. Greedon weighed 158, and Fitzsimmons 155%. First round—Both men feit each other for an opening. Fitzsimmons led. He was short, however, but he forced the fight-ing and landed a hard right on the head, and Creedon scored a hard body blow. A moment later Creedon caught a later. moment later Creedon caught a left on the chin, and one, two, three on the head. he men had to be separated by referee. Creedon ducked beautifully from a right on the head. Second round—Creedon missed a light left swing for the head, but he landed tw rights on the body. Fitzsimmons section two heavy rights and knocked Cree lown with a heavy right-hander on the jaw. Fitzsimmons landed a heavy right on the jaw and the men had to be forced from a clinch. Creedon received two heavy rights on the jaw and three rights on the body. Creedon was then knocked on the body. Creedon was then knocked out by a heavy left on the jaw. There was the wildest demonstration ever seen in the ring. Referee Duffy awarded the fight to Fitzsimmons, who was loudly cheered.

Referee Duffy announced Fitzsimmon's challenge to Champion Corbett. The plause that followed was immense. work of Fitzsimmons in the second round was the most marvelous ever seen in this section of the country. The three right-handers which Creedon received on the head in one, two, three order amazed the spectators and dazed the recipient, but they were not from an artistic nurillation. they were not from an artistic pugilistic point of view to be compared with the three heavy lefts delivered in one, two, three order on Creedon's nose, which floored the latest aspirant for middleweight honors, and caused Creedon to fall the easiest prey of all Fitzsimm versaries.

The main fight was done in the center of the ring. The actual fighting time was min. 40 sec. Creedon was carried to his corner gasping hard for breath. He comparatively unburt during the first round, and was taken to his corner smil-ing and chatting with his attendants. The inference is that he was beaten in 1 min. 49 sec., the time of the second round. His seconds and backers were startled beyond measure and those with I min. 49 sec., the time of the second round. His seconds and backers were startled beyond measure, and those who wished for Fitssimmon's defeat were overawed with wonder at the tall man's skill. After the fight was over there were knots of men in different parts of the mammoth arena trying to explain to each other how it occurred, or have it explained to them, but it was a fact that it took place before their eyes in the Olympic Club's arena on September 26, 1894.

"IT'S AN OUTRAGE.

Senator Hill Nominated for Governor,

The Nomination Forced Upon Him Amid Scenes of Great Excitement.

Ex-Secretary Whitney's Refusal-Bryan Triumphs in the Nebraska Convention—Gov. McKin-ley in Ohio.

SARATOGA (N. Y.,) Sept. 26.-A scen such as no delegation in the State Demo-cratic convention which was closed today ever witnessed before and which is without parallel in the history of conventions, ex-cept, perhaps, that in 1876, when Seymour was nominated by acclamation, took place today, when all mentioned candidates were forgotten, and the mention of David B Hill's name caused a stampede in his favor. Fifteen hundred people stood upon havor. Fifteen nundred people stood upon their feet, yelling themselves hoarse, two bands of music tried to drown the tumult, and Senator David B. Hill pounded violently but ineffectually with his gavel in attempting to restore order. It was a scene of enthusiasm such as would not probably be witnessed in a decade.

The Associated Press dispatches of the

The Associated Press dispatches of the past few days have indicated that there was every probability that the convention would stampede for David B. Hill. Mr would stampede for David B. Hill. Mr. Hill finished his speech nominating John Boyd Thatcher and had been received with enthusiasm. Delegates looked at one another and expected the nomination would be made by acclamation. Even Senator other and expected the nomination would be made by acclamation. Even Senator Hill himself, with the gavel in his hand, had ordered the roll to be called and breathed a sigh of relief, evidently believing the crisis had passed. But a slightly-built man from Allegheny county, who had never been known in the councils of the party, threw a firebrand which created a sensation almost beyond belief. When his county was reached Delegate Reynolds arose and, amid silence, said; "The united delegation from Allegheny desires to place in nomination for Governor their first and only choice, David B. Hill. Then ensued one of the wildest scenes that can be imagined. Delegates jumped upon the chairs, spectators crowded into the aisles, hats were thrown up, canes waved wildly, and men yelled themselves hoarse, and cheer after cheer afmost rent the frail builfing in twain. Senator Hill grew pale with emotion, but, in an almost faint hope that he would be able to stem the tide, he pounded vigorously with the gavel and cried for order. Bourke Cockran, John R. Fellows, Mayor Gilroy, Thomas Grady and other leaders jumped upon tables and urged on the applause. The only persons in the half who were seated were those few members of the press who were endeavoring to write their stories.

press who were entervoring to write their stories.

Finally, from sheer exhaustion, the vast audience ceased its applause long enough to allow Senator Hiff's voice to be heard, and, in a husky voice, he said: "I am grateful to the Democracy of the Empire State for their courtesy and kindness and support in this, and will say to you that I cannot be your candidate again for Governor."

There were cries of "No!" and "You are the only man?" from the Democrats, and the applause was renewed. But in the interval Senstor Hill managed to insist that the roll-call of delegates should be proceeded with. Senstor McMahon said: "I rise to the point of order that the roll-call be dispensed with by a unanimous vote of the delegates. Senstor Hzl said: "I have had some slight parliamentary experience, and the roll-call cannot be dispensed with by unanimous consent."

The clerk therefore began to call the The clerk therefore began to call the roll. Several county leaders arose and announced their delegations for Senator Hill. New York was reached and Senator Guy jumped to his feet. There were cries of "platform," but he stood on a chair and the delegates listened breathlessly to what he had to say. He spoke as follows: "I had hoped, Mr. Chairman, that some one older and better known in the councils of our party than myself would perform the duty which I feel called upon to perform now. It is incumbent upon us to select the man who, in the largest measure, represents the hopes and expectations the one older and better known in the councils of our party than myself would perform the duty which I feel called upon to perform now. It is incumbent upon us to select the man who, in the largest measure, represents the bopes and expectations the principles of the Democratic party, and who can best meet the needs of them. (Loud cheers and cries for David B. Hill.) "There is one man in the State of New York, Mr. Chairman, whose name is upon the lips of every live Democratic this State. His name is not only upon their lips, but enshrined in their hearts. The mention of his name revives hope in every Democratic breast, and strikes terror to the hearts of our enemies. He has never failed the Democracy in its hour of needhe cannot fail it now. He has led us to countless victories under adverse conditions in the past, and he will and must lead us now. In the council of the nations he has added lustre to the name of the Empire State, and has in the heroic battle for Democratic principles which he waged, side by side with our Democratic President, he has won thousands and thousands of friends among those who formerly were his enemies. He represents in the largest measure every principle that we hove. He represents courage, constancy and fidelity to his party, and devotion to principle. He represents courage, constancy and fidelity to his party, and devotion to principle. He represents religious freedom and liberty. (Cheers, loud and long.)

"He has told us that he cannot accept our nomination. (Cheers and cries of 'He will, he will.') Now I say to you, gentlemen that we ove a duty to the Democracy of this State higher than any courtesy even to him. In the name of the Democracy against the wishes of our presiding officer, and if need be, in defiance of it, I plage in nomination here before you, in the name of the Democracy of the State of New York, the one man who typifies all that Democracy typifies. I present the name of the pemocracy dependent Hill."

Bennett Hill."

He had barely finished when the same scene that occurred when Hill's name was first nominated, was repeated. The delegates rushed down the aisle toward the front and threatened to invade the stage. Senator Hill said out of the din: "The rules of the assembly are in force here, and the roll-call should be allowed to proceed."

ceed."

Bourke Cockran next obtained the platform and when he could be heard, sald:
"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: When the life of a nation is at stake and the laws which govern its existvention: When the life of a nation is at stake and the laws which govern its exist ence are incapable of defending the rights of its citizens, the moment comes when all restraints must be thrown aside and the supreme right of revolution invoked. For the first time since the present presiding officer of this convention assumed the leadership of the Democratic party in this State, I am in revolt against him, and ask this convention to disregard his decision and place upon his sense of duty the acceptance of the nomination, which he does not desire, as a favor at its hands. (Applause.)

"I am aware that there is no honor that "I am aware that there is no honor that the State of New York can confer upon its distinguished son which is not already his, won by honest battle in defense of popular rights and Democratic principles. But I believe there comes a time in the history of every man when the difficulties that surround him are the opportunity upon which he rises to higher planes. We must not deceive ourselves. We are confronted now with a situation which requires that the Democratic party array itself in its strongest armor and choose its tried and much-tested leader to carry it through the crisis which confronts it. The battle for the commercial and industrial emancipation of the people of this country is not yet over, and the victory is not yet achieved. The Democracy, in which is involved the future of this country, must not take the risk of failure."

The clerk then began calling the roll. As each county was called its leader arose and declared for David B. Hill. When the call was completed, ex-Assemblyman Hitt from Albany, who had nominated John Boyd Thatcher, jumped to his feet and, mounting a chair, withdrew his candidate and earnestly called upon Hill to accede to the wishes of the convention. This made Hill the only candidate before the convention. Congressman Cockran interrupted the roll-call by springing upon a table and thundering out: "All who are in favor of nominating by acclamation will say aye." There was a mighty shout and to the same summons those opposed. "no," there was not a voice heard. Then turning to Senator Hill, he said: "Sir, the people summon you to your duty." (Applause.)

Mayor Gilroy mounted a chair and added: "I only desire that it is the unanimous consent of this convention that Senator David B. Hill should be the standard-bearer of this campaign. I am satisfied from the fact that Mr. Hill has never yet failed in his duty to the Democratic party, that is this wish is conveyed to him selficately and properly he will obey the command of this convention." (Applause.)

The roll was then called and every county voted for Hill, and the secretary announced the Senator had received all the votes cast. During the excitement that attended the clerk's announcement of the nomination of Senator Hill, the Senator Hill from refusing. The leaders, however, opposed adjournment on the same ground.

Finally the convention went on with its work. Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan in a brief eulogism, nominated Hon. Daniel Lockwood of Buffalo for the office of Lieutenant-Governor. The nomination was made by acclamation amid great applause. James D. Bell nominated James G. Gaynor for Judge of the Court of Appeals, and the convention to adjourn was carried, Senator Hill saying: "The convention adjourned sine die a ing: "The convention that is running itself wants to adjourn. I declare it adjourned."

The convention adjourned sine die at 3:30 o'clock. The platoorm congratulates the people of the State on the improvement of industrial conditions which is following the repeal by the Democratic Congress of the laws of its Republican predecessors. The repeal of the Federal election laws by the Democrats is commended; also the passage of a law regulating trusts. The income tax provision of the Wilson bill is condemned; the administration of President Cleveland indorsed, and confidence is expressed that the people will sustain him at the polls next November. The rest of the platform is devoted to State issues and the A. P. A. is denounced.

The following State ticket was named by the botters, including the delegates of six counties: Governor, P. D. Sturtewant; Lieutenant-Governor, R. F. Dunphy; Secretary of State, D. T. Rolfe; Auditor, Otto Bauman; Treasurer, Luke Drydenthal; retary of State, D. T. Rolfe; Auditor, Otto Bauman; Treasurer, Luke Drydenthal; Attorney-General, John H. Ames; Commis-sioner of Public Lands and Buildings, Jacob Biglor; Superintendent of Public In-struction, Milton Doolittle, after adopting a platform similar to the other excepting it favored a gold basis.

SARATOGA, Sept. 26.—Immediately after the nomination of the ticket, Senator Hill was asked by an Associated Press correspondent what he thought of the situation.
"Oh," he replied, with no little anger expressed in his face, "it's an outrage; it's an outrage!"

Interviews with leading delegates here show that it is the general opinion that Hill will accept. Senator Hill announces that he will make a statement ere long.

WHITNEY WOULD NOT ACCEPT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.-William C. Whit ney was interviewed at Quarantine today and announced positively that he and announced positively that he would under no circumstances accept the Democratic nomination for Governor. He gave the impression that his business interests would not allow it. "There are plenty of better men in the party than I." said Whitney. "I regard David B. Hill as the very best man for the place. I think he would poll an enormous vote. Of course, I think the next Governor will be a Democrat.

ALBANY (N. Y.,) Sept. 26.—Senator Hill and Hon. D. S. Lockwood were serenaded at the Kenmore Hotel, when they came from Saratoga, by the Albany Phalanx. Senator Hill, in responding, said: "This demonstration is a part of the unexpected events of a day which to me has been one of mingled surpnise and embarrasment. The action of the Democratic convention, which was as unforeseen by you as by myself, imposes responsibilities and obligations of which I can't speak tonight. "Unwilling as I was to receive the honor which the convention, in spite of my protest, has sought to confer upon me, I am deeply couched by the unusual manifestation of confidence and esteem, and tonight I can only express in feeble larguage.

Committee reported all the contests in favor of Bryan, leaving the administration anti-silver element a small minority in the convention. W. D. Oldham of Kearney was made permanent chairman, and announced the convention ready for nominations. Dr. Edwards of Lancaster placed Congressman Bryan in nomination for United States Senator. He was chosen by acclamation, and replied in a speech pledging himself to work for free Elver and against monopolles.

After wrangling until midnight over the question of fusion, the matter was postponed, pending the report of the Committee on Platform. The minority report was similar to the majodity, with the exception of the clause relating to finance, which declared for a gold basis. That was wholly ignored by the victorious silverites, however, and the majority report carried with a rush.

After reviewing their allegiance to Jeffersonian principles, expressing the belief that a public office is a public trust, and that all men are created equal, the income tax is indorsed, election of United States Senators by the people is advocated, and an amendment to the Constitution making a President ineligible to re-election is favored. The report then reviews the A.P.A. question, and denounces that movement in severe terms. After the adoption of the platform, the leaders of the fusion and anti-fusion factions announced an agreement, and Judge Holcomb, the Populist candidate for Governor, was indorsed at midnight by a large majority.

Strangers are to be informed that San Diego has not attempted to make anything of a studied exposition. It simply offers to its friends and neighbors, and all who may visit the city, a season of entertainment and merry-making, a play-spell, a rest from the too-continuous burdens and cares of the world, and the widest welcome is extended to all to share in these festivities, and with a sincerity extending beyond the formality each visitor is invited to make himself at home.

The informalities of the celebration began tonight with the arrival of a special train from Los Angeles. It brought members of the Seventh and Ninth regiments, N.G.C., together with bands from Los Angeles, Pomona, Riverside and Santa Ans, the Golden Gate Park Band of San Francisco, the Los Angeles Naval Reserve, and one or two organized bodies. It was met at the depot by the City Guard Band and local military companies, and, after organizing as a procession, was escorted up D street to the Plaza Wigwam, and from there to various quarters.

Temorrow morning at 9 o'clock a strictly military parade will be had under command of Col. Spileman. The procession will be formed of the Seventh and Ninth regiments, N.G.C., the Los Angeles and San Diego Naval Reserves, and, possibly, a detachment of United States regulars from the post, together with the bands attached to the several companies. Tomorrow forenoon will be given up to aquatic sports on the bay, a bicycle race on the Boulevard stretching from Hotel Coronado along the the ocean front and back along the eastern shore of the bay, and the afternoon to further aquatic sports and to a matinee race meeting Cabrillo's entrance to the harbor will be accompanied by a fixed programme of fireworks of great brilliancy.

LAND CASES.

Important Work Before the Courts at Santa Fe.

SANTA FE (N. M.,) Sept. 26 .- In the SANTA FE (N. M.,) Sept. 26.—In the United States Land Court a rehearing of the case of William Pinkerton against the United States concerning the Gervacio Molan grant of 575,000 acres in Mora county, was refused. The grant was released some sime ago and the claimant applied for a new trial.

The government gained quite a victory in the Canyon de Chama grant. In this case the claimant, the Orio Arriba Land and Cattle Company, applied for a con-her tow-line when the collision occurred.

The first mate of the Ohio was picked up two hours later by the Kershaw. The Ohio was cut to the water's edge, abreast of the boiler-house, the hole being twelve feet square. The damage to the Ironton is not known. The Ohio was loaded with four and feed from Duluth to Ogdensburg. The Ironton was light, and was bound from Cleveland to Marquette. The crew refused to give the circumstances of the collision. case the claimant, the Orio Arriba Land and Cattle Company, applied for a confirmation of over 472,000 acres within the boundaries of this grant. The court confirmed the title to cnly 3000 acres, being all that part situated in the Chama River Canyon, which has been parceled out and allotted in severalty to the settlers. All over and above the actual allotments were rejected. This sustains the position taken, by United States Attorney Reynolds, that the surplus lands, in community grants never passed to the grantess but remained vested in the government.

The court has also entered an order dismissing the Peralta grant claim, which was heard yesterday. This was the greatest of the Cochito cases, being a claim for 400,000 acres, including Canada de Cochita and other grants. The action greatly simplifies the Cochiti controversy. The court announced today that it would decide the original Cochiti case by Saturday or Monday. collision.

hurricane announced in the special weathe bulletin of September 24 and 25 reaches ortheastern Florida this morning. At 11 o'clock the wind had shifted northwest at Jacksonville, with a pressure of 29.36 deg., showing the storm-center was a few miles southeast of that station. The observer there reports that many trees were blown down, and houses unrooted. The indications and the hurricane will move north in a northeasterly direction along the Atlantic Coast, probably reaching New York on Thursday night. All the principal towns along the coast from Connecticut to Florida have been warned of violent gales

THE WIND AT SAVANNAH. SAVANNAH (Ga.,) Sept. 26.—Everything now points to a storm equalling, if no now points to a storm equalling, if not exceeding, in violence, the fearful and destructive cyclone of August, 1893. At Tybee the wind ranges as high as 75 miles an hour. At loy-tide today, the water at Tybee was higher than at high tide. The ocean is steadily encroaching on the island, and it is thought that by night it will be completely submerged. Those on the island will have to take refuge in the lighthouse and Martello tower. The hotels and cottages appear doomed. The wind in Savannah blows 54 miles an hour, and is increasing.

Five Railroaders Assault Four Painters for Working Over-

An A. R. U. Branch President Commits Suicide—Arguments in the Debs Case—The Carlin Strikers.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The neighborhood of Twenty-ninth and Butler streets had a well-developed riot all to itself last night in a new series of flat buildigs being erected there. Five railroad men passed the building, and, seeing the lights of four painters who were working over time, stopped and became interested in their work. One of the railroad men asked one of the painters if he had a union card. He was told that it was none of his business. The railroad man was of a different opinion, and proceeded up the ladder opinion, and proceeded up the ladder where the painter was located and took forcible hold of him. At the same time his companions joined in the investigation and the other three men were soon being chased up ladders through empty rooms and onto the roof, where a lively fight was and onto the roof, where a lively fight was soon in progress.

The painters fought valiantly, but they were no match for the hard fists and heavy shoes of the railroaders. The shouts of the men alarmed the neighborhood and the streets about the building were soon filled with frightened women, some of them crying, while others were too badly scared to cry. A cry of police was raised and the attacking party thereupon withdrew for consultation. A hurried investigation showed that there were no police in the vicinity, and the fight was renewed. But while the consultation was going on, two of the painters succeeded in making their escape. The other two are said to have hoisted a figg of truce, and the railroaders agreed that neither of them should be killed outright. After some parleying, the two were allowed to depart, but not until they had promised the attacking party that they would not be in the vicinity again today looking for trouble.

the Mormon wife of Dr. Thomas Prackett of Fourteenth and Washington streets, yesterday told the story of her life on the witness stand.

The case before Judge Allen was one in which Mrs. Prackett had had the doctor arrested for disturbing the peace. At this Prackett became angred at the woman and denied that she was his wife. In turn, Mrs. Prackett became angred and not only showed a copy of the document which sealed her to Prackett in the Mormon faith, but also stated that Prackett had confided to her that he had another wife in Los Angeles. She showed letters from this other wife to the dector, and also a letter which the doctor had written to the Los Angeles woman, but which he had neglected to mail. Nor was this all. The Mormon Mrs. Prackett also stated that the doctor was not a doctor, but a painter at the only time she ever knew him to do any work, and that he had no diploma, nor had he a license to practice mediciner. On the witness stand Prackett, who was hadly frightened, denied that the Mormon Mrs. Prackett was his wife, but when Distr-Atty. Melvin asked him if he had a wife in Los Angeles the doctor heistated. A wordy war between the attorneys ensued and the witness declined to answer the question, taking refuge behind that part of the law which says a witness cannot be made to testify against himself.

Then the District Attorney asked the court for he was licensed to practice medicine in the State. Again did the witness seak refuge behind the law as with the above question. Prackett's name does not appear in the latest list of licensed physicians. The District Attorney unred loose his batteries on the doctor and asked the court to take that worthy into custedy on a charge of bigamy, but, to the surprise of the speciators and Attorney Melyin, this Judge Allen refused to do. holding that it was not a proper proceeding and that a complaint would have to be made.

It was decided to communicate with the Los Angeles wife, who is at No. 427 Temple street, in the Angel City, and have her prefer the charge.

out to find Mrs. Prackett last night, he discovered a vacant lot where that number should have been. At No. 447, however, inquiry was made, and the lady who answered the ring of the newsgatherer said that her name was Mrs. Prickett. She had read the dispatches telling of the escapade of Dr. Thomas Prackett, and she declared unhestatingly that the man was her husband, although she did not seem to be at all sorry to learn that he had got himself into trouble.

"I married Prickett seven years ago," she began, "in Lafayette, Ind. I first met him at Danville, Ill., where he made his home. He was at one time a practicing physician with a good business. After we were married he came out here with me. I found that he was a worthless sort of a fellow, and would not have him around the house, for he made a great deal of trouble, and I was afraid that he would be the cause of some of my roomers leaving. "Now I suppose that he has got all that poor woman's money, and that is all that he wants. He is a sharp one, I tell you, but he never got the best of me. Just before he went away he came and said, 'mow Doll,' he always called me Doll, for a pet name, 'you had better keep me here. Just starf a second-hand store, or something, and let me run it for you.' I thought to myself, 'yes I know what you are after, and what you will do if you get any money from me.' Here Mrs. Prickett chuckled to herself and seemed delighted to think that she had resisted the blandishments of the doctor so successfully. Then she continued her little story good naturedly, with: "It was about a year and a half ago that he went away, and I heard from him quite regularly up to three months ago. He always addressed me, by my correct name, Mrs.

about a year and a half ago that he went away, and I heard from him quite, regularly up to three months ago. He always addressed me by my correct name, Mrs. Prickett, but invariably had me send letters to 'Mr. Prackett,' for what reason I did not know. The last letter I received was postmarked at Oakland, but dated at San Francisco. I never knew anything about his marrying this other woman until I read the dispatches in the newspapers. "Will I prosecute him? Well, I guess so, if I can. I want to see him get the full extent of the law. Do you think that we can send him up?"

The reporter gave it as his humble opinion that if Prickett, or Prackett, had compiled with due ceremony in his marriage with Rebekah Barnes of Pasadena, that the offense of bigamy had certainly been committed, and this was comforting to Mrs. Prickett. As the latter has already had considerable experience in the field of martimony, she will probably lose no sleep over the news of her latest husband's performance. She did say, in addition to the above, that Prickett drank a great deal, and worked but little.

Altogether she seemed to firmly believe that the most appropriate place for the man was behind prison bars.

It certainly is not a case of love's labor lost on the part of Mrs. Prickett of Los Angeles.

though every precaution was taken to avoid danger or disaster.

The other witness called was Past Assistant Surgeon Frederick J. B. Cordeiro, with the records of the medical department showing the Commanding Officer Brice was on the sick list. The board adjourned at 3:30 p.m. until 10 o'clock on Wednesday mornior.

ANOTHER BAD MAN.

The Wife of Contractor Herbst Will Seek a Divorce.

a restaurant in San Francisco on September 11.

Herbst left his present wife and a daughter by a former marriage, about six weeks ago. The present Mrs. Herbst, who was married to the contractor in 1892 at Martines, states that she was grossly abused by her husband until she sought to obtain a divorce last April. At that time they were residing in this city. No sooner had Mrs. Herbst filed a divorce complaint than her husband threatened to send her to San Quentin on a charge of sending a threatening letter through the mails to Mrs. Reynolds, and this letter. Mrs. Herbst asserts, she wrote at the dictation of her husband.

Mrs. Herbst also says that her husband compelled her to sign a gift deed of their homestead property, which he subsequently sold for $4500 and retained all the money. This transaction he achieved through working upon her fears of prosecution for having sent the Reynolds letter.

"Herbst had two previous wives. I have "Herbst had two previous wives, I have learned," said the woman, who now wants to find him, "and both were divorced. One resides at No. 346 Fallon street, Oakland. The other died last winter. He has left me and his fifteen-year-old daughter, Lena, without a home. Out of $4900 which he received for our home and a ranch in Sonoma county, he took all but $376.50. Years ago, when Herbst left a forme wife and went to Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrn. Reynolds, he passed under the name of Becker.

"I should like to find him so that I could compel him to support his daughter and myself, or at least to make some provision for her. I shall sue for a divorce."

THE REINDEER WRECKED. Whaling Barks.

ted Press Leaved-wire Service SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The Pa-cific Steam Whaling Company's tender Jeanie arrived from the Arctic this morning, with news of the loss of the whaling bark Reindeer, owned by James McKenna of this city. She was driven ashore on bark Reindeer, owned by James McKenna of this city. She was driven ashore on Return Reef, between Point Barrow and Hopchel Island, during a terrific gale, and became a total wreck. The crew escaped in the boats and were picked up and distributed among the remainder of the fleet. Capt. James McKenna has experienced unusually bad luck during the past three seasons. This year the barks James Allen and Reindeer have been lost in the Arctic. Last year the Hunter returned clean, and is now tied up in Oakland Creek, while in 1892 the John P. West was burned off the Hawaiian Ishinds, and the Sea Breeze was alno burned off the coast of Central America. All in all. McKenna must have lost $150,000 in whaling vessels during the past three years. The Reindeer was built at New Bedford, Mass., in 1877. She was valued at $30,000, and was insured for $14,000. Last year McKenna went to Europe and bought a steamer to act as tender to his whalers. The steamer was to have met the James Allen and Reindeer at Point Barrow, and tow them to the mouth of the McKenzie River, where they were to winter. Before McKenna left to join the steamer the news of the loss of the James Allen arrived. The chances are that the Reindeer was lost while being conveyed to her winter quarters.

The catch of the whaling fleet up to September 1 has been the poorest for many a season. The whole fleet has caught but 25 whates, as follows: Jeannétte, 1; Grampus, 2; Mermaid, 1; Mary B. Hume, 2; Orca, 2; Karluk, 4; Newport, 5; Rosalle, 2; Balaena, 4; Narwhal, 2.

Another Mysterious Disappearance Solved-Spiritualist Slater.

SAN FRAL TISCO, Sept. 26 .- Dr. Thomas E. Tynan, the Modesto physician and capitalist, whom the courts have declared dead, and whose estate, has been distributed among his relatives, arrived in San Francisco this morning. He was met at Oakiand ferry by numerous friends and business associates who had been notified of his coming by parties who went on to Reno, Nev., to meet him. Though pale and glightly emaciated, the aged gontleman appeared in fairly good health. To reporters he refused to talk to any extent. He said, however, that he had been in Boston all the time since his disappearance dead, and whose estate, has been distrib-Boston all the time since his disappearance and that the reason of his sudden leaving, over two years ago, was to avoid the ennoyance of litigation begun by his step-daughters to recover property which they alleged belonged to them, funds belonging to their deceased mother's estate having to their deceased mother's estate having been appropriated by Tynan, as they claimed.

Will I prosecute him? Well, I guess so, if I can. I want to see him get the full extent of the law. Do you think that we can send him up?"

It was an affectionate meeting between the full extent of the law. Do you think that we can send him up?"

It was an affectionate meeting between the full extent of the law. Do you think that the defense of bigamy had certainly been committed, and this was comferting to Mrs. Prickett, as the latter has a ready had considerable experience in the hand's performance. She did say, in addition to the above, that Prickett drank a great deal, and worked but tittle.

street and number I have promised not to reveal. When I rang the bell I asked for Dr. Tynan. They told me be was not there; but while I was talking he came to the top of the stairs and spoke to me. I took him to the hotel, and we talked together until after midnight. Then he went away, and I made no effort to restrain him.

"For three weeks I taw him occasionally. Then he left Boston, and I returned soon after to California. I saw Mrs. Tynan, but she would not believe that I had seen the doctor. She believes it now. Early in August I went back and found the doctor again. We went to New York together, and on Monday. September 17, we left there bound this way. We stopped one day in Chicago, and reached Reno, where I left Dr. Tynan last Saturday."

Slater, it is understood, has the promise of $5000 and expenses. Mrs. Tynan would not fix any sum until she saw the doctor, and this amount was agreed to today. Dr. Tynan will now take steps in Stanislaus county courts to have himself declared as being in the fiesh. The San Francisco police are skeptical about the spirfualistic story, and hint that Dr. Tynan was induced to disappear by some means unknown to them. Dr. Tynan himself is an ardent believer in spiritualism.

followed the tramp to Sweetland, where he found him in bed late last night and shot and killed him.

Mrs. Williams, who is a preposessing woman of 20, waz-alone when the tramp arrived at the house on Monday night about 9 o'clock, her husband being at work on the Eureka Lake ditch. The nearest neighbors live two miles distant. She was compelled to give up $25 in money, and when she told him it was all she had he returned $2. When he assaulted her she fought desperately till he choked her into unconsciousness and accomplished his infamous purpose, staying there all night and repeatedly outraging her.

Early yesterday he left and she went to the neighbors and gave the alarm. Her husband was sent for. He at once went on the trail of the fugitive, accompanied by Constable Northup of San Juan. They traced the tramp fifteen miles to Sweetland, where at 11 o'clock last night they found him in bed asleep. The Congtable was about to arrest him when Williams stepped up with a rifle and shot the tramp in the mouth, causing instant death. Williams is under arrest. The tramp came from Sierra county, and had robbed several cabins on the way down.

ted Press Leased-wire Service Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The Examiner says that if the Treasury Department at Washington rules as the dispatches indicate it will, California will be able to put up fruits in spirits. Under the McKinley law, foreign brandled fruits could compete with the home production, and for that reason California produced very literature. that reason California produced very lit-tle of that form of preserve. If, however, as seems probable, it shall be held that spirits coming into this country in what-ever form (whether in bulk or as preserves of fruits) shall be taxed at full importation rates, then the American will be placed upon an equality with the European and brandied fruit will become one of the in-dustries of this State.

This building was erected six years ago by Mr. Sloane and endowed by his wife, a daughter of the late William Henry Vanderbilt.

It stands upon the corner of Fifty-ninth street and Tenth avenue, commanding a fine view of the Hadson Piver.

fine view of the Hudson River. The Vanderbilt Clinic occupies the cor-ner above of the same block, erected by the other children of the deceased, and dowed by William Henry Vanderbilt dur ing his lifetime. Being set apart, each building is enabled to secure a free circulation of fresh air and plenty of sunshine.

There are four resident physicians in the Maternity, the physician in charge and three assistants. There are twelve nurses from the New York Hospital and others, who give their services for the Maternity training, besides a number of house servants, cooks, scrubwomen, laundresses and the like, though these are few, as many of the women awaiting accouchment assist in the housework according to their capacity.

MRS. SLOANE A CONSTANT VISITOR I am requested to remain in the re-

I am reques ed to remain in the reception room a few moments, while the doctor sees a visitor. In the hallway I hear the rustle of silk and the sound of a woman's voice as fresh as a sea breeze. She makes inquiries concerning the patients and the bables, and there is a perfume of country flowers. The front door opens and closes, while some one remarks: "That was Mrs. Sloane herself; she personally supervises the hospital."

I regretted missing a sight of the face of this gracious woman. It must be as full of loveliness and happiness as her great heart is of charity.

"The institution is prepared to accommodate forty-five patients at a time, but often cares for fifty," began my guide, as we reached the landing and enosed the marble floor of this upper hall and entered the most perfect operating room the imagination can picture.

The room was entirely fitted in white marble, both floor and dado, with hard-finished wall above. A broad window to the left, a snowy table couch in the center, furnished with sheets, coverlet and pillow, for the patient, by its side; a table made of many trays of glass, supported by four white legs; salls painted white set against the marble dado; a white closet and shelves contained towels, instruments and appliances. A patient is delivered here and then placed on a stretcher and taken to the cot assigned her in the ward. An infant is taken directly to the nursery.

The sunny corner is devoted to the patients' ward. Here are pleasant, clean-looking patients, reading, chatting and nursing their bables. Among them was one colored patient, he average per cent, in these institutions. A vase of country flowers stood on a table by one of the broad windows; they seemed a resemblance of the woman who had called.

Next came the nursery—we were greeted with a wail as the door opened.

"We have had six hables born in the last twelve hours, and they always cry at first to exercise their lungs."

Two nurses in spotless frocks of blue gingham with kerchiefs and aprons of muslin arose to greet us as the physician spoke. Each held a tiny new-born tot. One of them handed the physician her infant. 'She looked an ideal foster mother, with kindiy eyes and a wealth of light hair tinged with gray that suggested sufficient maturity to yield tenderness and sympathy.

The physician rubbed the palm of his big, soft hand over the babe's head, aolding it with the other. 'This is the way to soothe a little baby,' he said; then turning it over he administered a queer little "Jack-in-the-box" jerk, and the qyelids flew up, and sleepy eyes and a yawn greeted the kindly doctor. He handled the little thing so firmly and gently, with security and tenderness. Cots placed sidewise against the wall about the room, and boside these two more stood in the center of the room. Each cot held a row of five or more bables, each little head pillowed against its own tiny pillow, and each Ettle body shielded with its own little sheet and tiny blanket, summer weight. The first glance at these rows of tiny pink heads might suggest rose buds, but that would be idealizing. They looked far more like radishes in a row, freshly plucked from the garden, with a brush of earth upon them, indicating baby hair. A bolored baby, a tiny "pick-a-ninny." counted one in a row, and the physician A colored baby, a tiny "pick-a-niny," counted one in a row, and the physician told me that at this early state in its existence they were always quite as pink as the rest, and could only be distinguished by their heir.

THE EXTENT OF THE WORK.

"We care for one thousand patients a year. All we require is that she be in labor to receive her. If notified in advance of a patient's condition we ask that she will provide one suit of baby clothes to take her baby away in. As to the moral of it all, we have both single and married women in about equal proportion. We do not attempt to lecture them, it seems a poor time when a woman is in the pain and peril of childbirth. Maternity should teach its own lesson. We usually dismiss a patient in ten days and often direct them to some institution or home. While inmates are with us their friends may inquire after them, but they are not permitted to see them."

These were the wise, kindly words of the physician as he bade me farewell.

OTHER HOSPITALS.

The New York Infant Asylum issues this year its fortieth annual report.

The best brains and hearts of the metopolis act upon the care of each child and mother. In consequence the institution is full of compromises, though they purpose to accept a single woman with child but once, as does the Nursery and Child's.

The mothers seem happy and healthy here, and the children fine looking and froicesome.

The patients do such work as they can accomplish until confined, and if unable to pay anything are required to give three month's labor after confinement.

The Nursery and Child's have only two hundred maternity cases a year, upon about the same conditions as stated above, but that each mother nurses a foster babe with her own if possible, as many we nurses board their babies at the hospital. A MODEL NURSERY.

A MODEL NURSERY.

The nursery is very complete. Tiny cribs of iron painted white fill the room. Each crib bears a blue or veilow tablet, upon which is written the infant's name and birth date. A veritable cupboard stands at one end of the room, and within it are medicines and appliances of the most approved order for infants. Out of this room opens the "baby kitchen." Each baby in the institution has both mother's milk and artificial food, giving fem two chances for life.

A large ice box keeps the food cold, while even the water, as well as the food, is sterilized that is used in the nursery. There are wonderful machines to test food and separate it back into its component parts. Each baby has its artificial food made up by a receipt that contains just its needs. So much albumen, so much sugar, so much cream, according to lits condition.

They weigh the babes weekly and the tots were in various stages of nakedness when we saw them prior to this important event.

The Nursery and Child's Hospital hails each delivery as an operation at the hospital, physicians, assistants, nurses and all being present for educational reasons at a binth. They make every effort to place a single woman with her child after confinement in a good home, as the temtation is rarely resisted to leave the little waif on a doorstep and return another year to a similar institution, if sent forth into the world, while a good home with the offspring often retains a woman's character.

the offspring often retains a woman's character.

The Infirmary for Women and Children is sustained entirely by subscription, and has a number of endowed beds. They have cared for eighty-four maternity patients in the past year. They are a growing work, and the institution is spacious and attractive.

The Society for the Lying-in Hospital of New York city, occupies two floors in a cheap flat building. On the first is the office, reception-room, two examinating-rooms and sterilizing-room; above the dermitories for the physicians and students.

office, reception-room, two examinating-rooms and sterilizing-room; above the dormitories for the physicians and students.

When a patient calls for examination she is given a card to hand in upon the advent of her labor. These directions are in English German and Italian, oddly enough French is absent. A call is attended within twenty minutes by a physician and student, Vallses containing all requirements are kept in the sterilizing-room, and one of these is taken along. The big copper sterilizer is always at work preparing, fixton and gauze for the use of the patients. The student is left in charge of the patient, consulting always the physician who attended the delivery. If a case is complicated, one of the nurses attends and another physician is summoned from the hospital. If the family is destitute, the physician will direct that sufficient food be administered by a charitable diet kitchen, sustained for the hospital's patients.

They care for 700 patients a year and have more cases in winter that summer, a curious fact that may be noted. Statistics show us that New York city practically cares for about three thousand maternity patients a year, beside the great number provided for by its churches. One per cent. of these are colored.

There is a mortality of 2 per cent. among the mothers and about 3 per cent. The patients are tided over a difficult place in their lives often times; taught the value of systematized, healthy occupation without momentary anxiety as to their livelihood; shown the result of skillful retardment and wholesome care at the important time of maturity,

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

As to the Contents of the Dinner-pail LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26, 1894 .- (To the Editor of The Times:) In this morning's Times I read an article, over the signa-ture of E. H. Rydall, criticising a lecture given in this city recently by Mrs. Kate Tupper Galpin, entitled "Secondary Causes of Alcoholism." Permit me to address my-self to Mr. Rydall in reply, through your

In taking exception to her remarks of the "unappetizing, insufficient and innu-tritious food" partaken of by the workingman at his noonday meal, as one of th causes which create a desire for stimulating drink, you say, this is not the rea likes a stimulant; but that nature calls for a beverage to slake thirst and stimulate vitality.'

In reply, I would like to call the atten-tion of the workingman's wife or daughter to the insufficiency of any meal without a beverage to slake thirst; earing and drinkto the insufficiency of any meal without a beverage of slake thirst; ezfing and drinking are needed to satisfy both hunger and thirst; bread and water go together in the typical demand for nature's daily food. Why should not the home, where the finpail-receives its surply furnish the liquid refreshment, as well as the soild?

Cold coffee, cold tea, lemonade, orangeade, raspberry vinegar and many other beverages are inexpensive and easily prepared. Grape jute is most nourishing and palatable, when unfermented, which could be expressed from the grapes daily and thus insure its freedom from injurious and intoxicating properties, while the positively harmless cold water to be had at drinking fountains, free of cost, would enable the workingman to enjoy his noon meal, even though the contents of his pail might be unappetizing. Suppose, however, these drinks could not be conveniently obtained. What a splendid substitute the California existence they were always quite as pink as the rest, and could only be distinguished by their hair.

Another premature baby was in a state of incubation, all done up in medicated cofton. Each child wore a little ticket, or tag, upon which was written its number, indicating the number of its mother's cot, whither each one is taken every two hours to nurse.

The little tags exactly imitated those found on newly-purchased umbrellas or upon ready-made clothing.

Babies sleeping in rows, crying in rows, opening brown, blue, black eyes, by the pair, in rows, all so carefully nurtured, brought a swelling in our heart which mounded to our eyes. I had a memory of a baby, with glad blue eyes, whose tiny, toothless smile was radiance, creating happiness in many human hearts set upon him. He was all cheed in with wool and slik and lace and worldly prospects, and he went away to fulfill the promises of the "book" to be an angel about the throne, while these libile waifs live on to his safered little memory.

The fixed bove is an exact duplicate of this one, and above come the sleeping quarters of the servants. The house is lighted by electricity and heated with steam.

A GREAT SCHEME.

All the world admires the ingenuity of the Yankee, and in Europe any proposition, however improbable and difficult, if it emanates from America, is now taken as a matter of cours Even aliens, after they have resided for some time in the United States, become imbued with the spirit of ginality and invention, and under take enterprises which in their native land would cause them to be regarded as fit subjects for a lunatic asylum. The great World's Fair at Chicago with its tall tower and Ferris wheel and other daring novelties which proved so profitable to the projectors, have given a great impetu to original money-making ideas of this scription. The latest of these, a reort of which comes from New York s certainly unique in its way. It is thing less than the construction of n antificial island in the Atlantic ean, eleven miles from the Long Isl nd shore. Work upon this enter rise, which is to be known as Ata antis, after the lost continent of which gnatius Donnelly has written so enertainingly, has, we are informed ready commenced. The idea is to ct a number of palatial iron strucconnected with one another by artistic bridges, on the principle of the cting structures adopted among e islands of Venice. The first of the eries of buildings to be erected will of an imposing style of architecucted in the form of ends buried deep in the sand. The above the water, which is said to be n the Atlantic. The two main floors this first structure, including a fishg pavilion below and a promenade ight hundred rooms, luxuriously furied, also piazzas, large promenades ivate and public dining-rooms and so th. There is to be a grand amphi iter, to accommodate 10,000 people ith from 5000 to 7000 more in the le, who can watch the great pro-

e, two stories high in the main nd four in the towers. This building to rest on large iron cylinders filled with cement, with their lower er floor will be thirty-eight feet ar above any tidal wave measured the roof, will contain 227,800 square et. The casino will contain about ries, while the roof garden will seating accommodation for 3000 of ocean vessels leaving and riving at New York. Naturally, the ea fishing from a solid foothold be one of the chief attractions of place, especially to those whose rebel when their legs begin to le. It is proposed to have the rt open all the year round, and ers will run from New York, City and Brooklyn at regular of the day and night, making rip in about an hour and a half. fact that this unique resort is of the jurisdiction of the ted States and all other nations given rise to many conjectures as ay be undertaken there and uplications may arise. The of the enterprise, who rethe Hebraic name of Coen, that the main object of local far from shore is to give the the benefit of an ocean voyage the attendant seasiekness tres that there will be no g and no prize fights. This but there is a suspicious look of amphitheater with accoun-for 17,000 people. Beyond new speck of terra firms in may give rise to internathere is the matter of postage. Must Atalantis enter the postal union? Will it be a despotism, a limited monarchy, or a republic? Mr. Coen says the administration will be strict and will rigidly enforce rules for the maintenance of order, also that courts will be regularly organized upon rules followed by older nations, and presided over by learned jurists.

THIR PERNTH YEAR.

There are certainly great possibilities in this original scheme. Defaulting cashlers, instead of running off to Canada or Mexico, can skip over to Atalantis, where they may read the New York papers with their morning coffee and make terms with the institutions from which they levanted. Or, in the case of wholesale embezzlers like Ferdinand Ward, they might let a contract for the construction of an island of their own, from which the could defy the authorities, State and Federal In time we may expect to see each ocean dotted with islands The millionaire will order the building of one as he now contracts for a vacht, Mormons, free-lovers, Populists, Anarchists, and others whose ideas are non grata to the average American may start independent governments of their own, where they can carry out their ideas to their hearts' content Doubtless island-building will be a recognized industry, and will give a boom to the moribund iron and steel business. Island factories will be es tablished at important points, and millionaires will be besieged for orders by enterprising drummers, carrying of their wares. What a samples splendid chance this would give the Populists to put their theories into practice. The Prohibitionists, also, would have a fine opportunity to show what may be done with a government founded on cold water-and piles.

Of course, there will be a newspaper published at Atalantis, and here again great possibilities of reform loom up. The editor of that paper will be the envy of his fellows on the continent. A trap-door, properly located, the touching of a spring, and presto! the short-haired woman with long-drawnout poem, the long-haired crank with an impossible theory, and the bullnecked tough with a grievance-"d'yer see!"-all alike drop into oblivion, while the world is none the wiser.

Certainly, Mr. Coen has evolved a great scheme, and one that will bring him many shekels as well as much

TRUTHS WELL SPOKEN.

Gov McKinley made some telling points in his Indianapolis speech on Tuesday. Among other things he re futed the charge of sectionalism in Republican legislation, and pointed out the fact that in attaching a sugar bounty clause to the tariff bill of 1890, the government was made a party to a solemn contract with the sugar-producers of the country, which contract the party in power has now ated.

Touching the financial and indus trial stagnation, the words of this clear-sighted statesman went straight to the core of the subject. His remarks on this head will bear repetition. They should be carefully read and pondered by every person who desires to have an honest and clear understanding of the evils under which we are suffering and have suffered since the tariff-wrecking Democracy came into power. Gov. McKinley said:

"Our money is all good, whether !t be in silver, national bank notes or greenbacks, or treasury or gold or silver certificates—every dollar is good. To get the money out among the people is the serious problem to-day. To do this we must not only have something to sell, but be able to find somebody to buy. If we are compelled to keep it, we suffer the loss in whole or in part of what it costs us to produce it. The banks are filled with money. Money was never more plentiful nor less employed than it is now. It is because it is not employed that we have the stagnation in business which distresses the country, and the reason it is not employed; a because the invitation to safe and because the invitation to safe and profitable investment is not presented. It is not the lack of money nor the kind of money that is the trouble, it is the lack of prosperous manufactur-ing and the absence of confidence in the party managing the government and the want of faith in the future. and the want of faith in the future. When confidence and hope are every-where manifested, manufacturers are busy and labor is employed, and when both are engaged therein, with a fair profit and with fair wages, then agriculture is prosperous, and money has free and healthy circulation."

The New York State Democratic Convention yesterday was stampeded for Senator Hill, who was nominated, amid much enthusiasm, for Governor. Hill is a brilliant man, an astute politician, and a consistent Democrat. He has a very large personal following throughout the State, and has the added advantage of the full confidence and support of Tammany. He has the disadvantage, however, of being extremely distasteful to the Cleveland wing of the Democracy. Whether this opposition can be over-Should come is an open question. Hill carry the State by a good majority, the chances are that he will real ize his long-cherished ambition, and become the Democratic Presidential candidate in 1896. New York State is usually Democratic in off-years, and the fight this year will be a hotlycontested one. The Republicans have an exceptionally strong candidate in Levi P. Morton, and with a fair fight the latter would undoubtedly be elected. But Tammany has never been known to wage an honest political battle, and the question of victory will be determined in this campaign, as heretofore, by the extent of the l'ammany frauds in New York city.

MEN FOR THE FORUM.

Ready and able speakers, men who an "think on their feet"-and there are many such in Los Angeles and vicinity would perform a patriotic serv ice for the Republican party if they would tender their services to the Republican County Central Committee. There are numerous calls for such speakers throughout the county and these calls should be promptly responded to. The campaign will be a closely-contested one from now until the close of the polls in November Republicans who can speak, who feel that they have a message to deliver, who desire the triumph of Republican principles and the election of good nen to office, are invited to place their services, wherever practicable, at the disposal of the Republican County Central Committee, at the earliest posible moment.

THE DEEP-WATER HARBOR.

It is announced from Washington that the Congressional committee to investigate the Southern California deep-water harbor matter will leave for this Coast early next month.

While it is true, as The Times has tated, that the prospects for a repetition by this committee of the verdict of the government engineers are very favorable, it would be well, in consideration of the adverse influences that are known to be at work, for the people of this section to be on the abert to present their case in the clearest and strongest light. It is known that the rairoad company has several pronounced friends among the mempers of the committee, iprominent among whom is Senator Jones, who recently went over to the Populists, in consequence of which there has been talk about removing him from the committees to which he now belorgs.

Commenting upon the approaching visit of the Harbor Committee, the San Francisco Call says:

"The two locations speak for themselves, but there are other considerations than those of topography and hydrography. The railroad will undoubtedly advance plausible arguments, that commercial connections ments that commercial connections will be better effected at Santa Mon The committee that the commercial connections are essential to the welfare not of the people, but of the Southern Pacific. Santa Monica it can monopolize those connections-at San Pedro it mus share them with other transportation agencies. That is the case in a nut-

Senator Hill is nothing if not sensational, pyrotechnical, and demagogical, In his speech before the Saratoga conrention on Tuesday he denounced the McKinley act as the "culminating atrocity" (we have heard that phrase pefore) of Republican legislation. The Senator was evidently forgetful, for the moment, that in the Senate a few weeks ago he denounced the present tariff in as round, set terms as he em ployed in denouncing the McKinley act. He is now supporting the Gor man tariff as a beneficent measure. agogy, what is it? He declared that the new law "will not cripple nor embarrass a single industry in the land, nor throw out of employment a single workingman, nor unduly stimulate overproduction on the one hand, nor exorbitant importations on the other." If the Senator has kept abreast of current events since the passage of the new law, he must have learned that it has already crippled and embarrassed many inlustries, thrown many workmen out of employment, and reduced the wager of thousands of others. But, of course, there is no such word as "facts" the lexicon of D. B. Hill's political logic. He is probably right in saving that the new tariff will not unduly stimulate production. It is not built that way.

The gangs of toughs who attacked, with murderous intent, four painters in Chicago on Tuesday night, because the latter had no "union cards" and were working over time, committed not only an outrage against humanity justice and common decency, but at the same time violated the statutory laws of the land, and did violence t the Declaration of Independence. which bespeaks for every man the enjoyment of the inherent right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The fact that outrages such as the one above referred to are frequently committed and seldom punished is one of the danger-signals of the hour. Such disregard for law, and for the rights of man, tends directly toward anarchy. Anarchy is the purlieu of despotism and the grave of liberty.

Bulletin No. 3 has just been issued from the California State Mining Bureau. It is an exhaustive pamphle of 100 pages, and treats of "the gas the central valley of California." It is written by W. L. Watts, M.E., assistant in the field to the State Mineralogist, J. J. Crawford: The informs tion contained in this work is of espe the contained in the present time, when there is so much interest in petroleum production in this State. Those interested in the subject may obtain a copy free upon application to the State Mining Bureau, No. 24 Fourth street, San Francisco.

The beneficent effects of Democratic tariff legislation are forcibly illustrated in a dispatch recently sent out from Omaha, which conveys the information that there is a stampede among sheep-owners to market their sheep, in consequence of the placing of wool on the free list. The resources of the Union Pacific road are overtaxed by the effort to transport sheep from Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Mor tana and Wyoming to the packinghouses in Omaha. The free-trade papers will soon be telling us, no doubt, about the great revival in the mutton industry as a consequence of the new tariff!

A Japanese force of 30,000 men has started for Peking, with the avowed intention of capturing the Chinese capital. We may expect soon to hear renewed demands from Chinese sources for "arbitration" unless these bumptious Japs should get wiped out on Chinese soil, which is possible. Li-Hung-Chang, though short of "duds" himself, may yet clothe himself in a garment of wrath and hurt some body.

"Inter-party strife must now cease, and our attacks be reserved for the foe," said Senator Hill in his Saratoga speech. This is good politics. It is as applicable in California as in New York. It is a maxim which Republicans should not permit the Democ racy to monopolize. In united effort lies the secret of successful politics.

John Wanamaker knows a shrewd usiness scheme when he sees it. He is now advertising heavy reductions in some of his wares, "on account of the new tariff," and the free-trade journals of the land are just tumbling over one another to give him free advertising and taffy. It's frigid weather when John gets left.

Senator Stewart may regard it as fortunate, for him, that he is not obliged to face a primary canvass. 'Men's work and women's tears' would certainly be too much for him.

Voters should study the propsed constitutional amendments, so as to be able to vote upon them intelligently when the time comes.

With Grover's penchant for lettervriting, it seems a little strange that he has not yet written an open letter to Breckinridge.

POLITICAL POINTS.

More than three thousand pers turned out at Fresno Saturday night to hear Mr. Estee's speech, Senator Peffer says he doesn't like to talk about the new tariff. A great many Democratic statesmen in California are in the same fix. (Cincinnati Times-Star:) The latest portrait of Gov. McKinley in the Eastern papers bears the expression of a man in the presence of a particularly loud and offensive odor. Th

(Bakersfield Californian:) Chairman Gould of the Democratic State Cen-tral Committee is an apostle of econ-omy in State government. He is the self-same Gould who was Speaker of the last Assembly, and is a with a record as is a record. serving as Speaker he put in his claim for $10 per day for that service and $8 per day as a member of the Assembly. State Controller Colgan would not allow the bill and Gould became very indignant, insisting on his right to draw the two salaries, or $18 per day, at the same time.

When McKinley Entered Masonry (Ohio State Journal:) The Dayton Journal prints an interesting story of how Gov. McKinley became a Mason, called out by the fact that, at the Kenton cornerstone laying a few days ago, he wore a Masonic regalia. Up to that time it was not generally known that Gov. McKinley belonged to that order. In reply to a question he said he had been a member since 1864, and had joined at Winchester. Va., with Gen. Sherman. Continuing, the

"The Masons had a lodge there, and conducted the work right along. Some friend asked him why he had not submitted his name, and he said he couldn't, as he was not of age. However, that was ignored, and he took his first degree. That night Johnny Reb came along and drove the Union forces out of Winchester, so the young captain could not get the next two degrees. Brother Masons, however, got a special dispensation, and while making one of those famous Sheridan marches the other two degrees were conferred. Winchester was a famous Masonic center during the war, as it was debatable ground, the rebels being in charge at one time and the Union forces another. It was continually changing hands, but the ritual of the order continued. The lodge was used by both the Northern would take up their work where they had left it off, in no way molesting any of the properties left by the Northern brother. In turn the Bouth would do the same. This anecdote is a rare example of the strength of this great secret society. While fighting as Sheridan fought, they still kept up the brotherly real sti

The meeting was opened with scripture and the offering of prayer by Rev. Mr. Pettinger.

Bishop James N. Fitzgerald, D.D. LL.D.

Rev. J. C. Elliott of Tulare being in troduced, reviewed the history of the Christian Church, elaborating somewhat on a few of the points touched upon Coming down to the present time he spoke of the work of the Board of Church Extension which in 1864 was organized for the purpose of providing houses of worship for those not able to provide them In the first year there came into the or-

After touching eloquently upon the results of the work thus done the speaker said it may seem sometimes as though there are a great many purposes for which contributions are solicited, yet the work of this organization will not have been done until not one congregation shall be without a home in which to worship God.

Rev. Dr. C. C. McLean spoke of the Freedman's Aid and other Southern educational societies. After passing briefly upon the establishment of slavery in the United States the speaker told of the work of extending church privileges first among the negroes and later among the white people of the South.

people of the South.

The latest statistics regarding what is accomplished by the work, he said, will accomplished by the work, he man, wan undoubtedly be a surprise to most people when they are published to the world. The great work done has, he said, not been confined to the establishment of churches and the supplying of such churches with preachers. A good deal of instruction is present a present a functional lines so that given in various educational lines so that some of the brightest preachers in the churches established by the society are some of the brightest preachers in the churches established by the society are among the colored men who have been brought up from slavery.

As an illustration of the peculiar ideas of what may be read in the Bible, held by some of the colored preachers, the speaker related an aneodote of an occurrence not long ago in Jacksonville, Fla., A colored preacher was discoursing on the text "And Enoch Walked With God." The preacher evidently was possessed of "And Enoch Wasked The preacher evidently was possessed or the idea that it was a walking match between God and Adam, and pointed out to his hearers the foolishness of trying to walk in competition with the Almighty with any hope of success. also disenfranchised a large number of white men. If a man cannot understand what he is voting for, he ought not to be allowed to vote. The liquor evil has been a terrible curse to the colored man. When they were in slavery their masters, knowing bow it would affect them, would not permit the use of liquor. Since they have been free, however, they have many of them thought themselves to have the right to follow the example of some of their former masters in indulging in the liquor habit.

The negro, as a race, is slow to see advantages. Some people call him lab but when he is once roused to his opportuities he goes forward with tremendo momentum. Quite a large proportion of t teachers sent to train the negroes ha been of a poorly educated class, but the condition is being rapidly improved. Instead of looking forward to a coalidi of the races, the colored people, wherever practicable, should be encouraged to have churches and schools for themselves.

Rev. Dr. Campbell made a few remarks in which he expressed the belief that the work spoken of by Mr. McLean should be continued, and not left to the Methodist Church. South.

Meetings to Be Held at Various Points This Week.

The Executive Committee of the Republican County Central Committee will meet The Executive Committee of the Republican County Central Committee will meet this evening at 7:30 c'clock in the rooms on North Main street. On Saturday the presidents and secretaries of all county clubs are recluested to meet in the committee-rooms at 2 o'clock to discuss campaign matters. Several meetings have been arranged to be held this week, at which candidates and other speakers will be present. Tonight the Republicans of East Los Angeles will be addressed by S. C. Hubbell, among others. Meetings will also be held Saturday evening at Compton and Athambra. W. S. Redding will speak at Compton and J. A. Donnell, candidate for District Attorney, at Alhambra. The Soldiers' and Saliors' Republican Club, which was formed in 1892, will be reorganized on Saturday evening at the rooms of the Los Angeles Republican Club on Second street. All ex-soldiers and saliors of this county, of the Republican faith, are invited to be present.

Among the numerous Republican aspirants for Mayor at the forthcoming city election is S. C. Hubbell, Esq., not the "Oldest," but one of the old inhabitants. He is of opinion that his form would fit the buiging seat of Mayor Rowan "like de paper on de wall." So say all of them.

Mr. Stubbs is quoted as follows in regard to the new service in the Chronicle of Tucsday:

"We have arranged to place the Sunset Limited express on the road on the 1st of November, and the time will be equal to any limited express time between Chicago and New York. It is provided expressly for the winter travel to California and will be maintained as long as the patronage will permit it. Two special trains will be equipped for service. Each will consist of two beautifully appointed drawing-room cars, a dining car and a composite car, which includes a barber shop, smoking apartment, bathroom, buffet and baggage-room. Additional sleepers can be added if the travel-demands it. Those two trains will permit a fast weekly service between here and New Orleans, and at New Orleans they will connect with the fast train of the Piedmont Air Line.

"Mr. Stubbs says the first train will start from New Orleans on Thursday, November 1st, at 8 a. m. The other train will start from San Francisco on the same date at 10:30 a. m. The running time has been carefully figured out. The time between New Orleans and San Francisco is at present 106½ hours. The two specials will cover the distance in seventy-seven and a half hours. That will give a quick service to New York to San Francisco in 118½ hours, which is within four hours and fifteen minutes of the time now made by way of Chicago.

"With such fast service the southern route is bound to prove the attractive route for winter travel to California, for all washouts, storms, snows and frost will be thus avoided.

"The introduction of the Sunset Limited the other transcontinental roads. At the local Union Pacific office it was learned that a demand would be immediately made on the Southern Pacific for faster time between Ogden and San Francisco to offset the effect which the Ilmited specials would have in diverting traffic to the southern route. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The California Traffic Association's Executive Committee met today to consider further the scheme of building a ratiroad up the San Joaquin Valley. Isaac Upham, F. W. Van Sicklen, B. F. Dunham, Alvinsa Hayward and Thomas Magee, all members of the Traffic Association's Executive Committee, were finally selected as trustees of the railroad company. Subscriptions are to be solicited at once.

The name of the new line is to be the San Francisco, Stockton and San Joaquin Railroad Company, with a capital stock of $6,000,000, although it is believed $4,000,000 will be ample for construction and rolling stock. No subscription is to be vailed unless $350,000 be obtained, and at the end of ten years the stock is to be dedelivered to the holders of trustees certificates. Subscriptions in San Francisco will be solicited at once, and Traffic Manager Leeds believes in ten days sufficient funds will be obtained to warrant incorporation. Construction will be commenced from Stockton south. It is expected that right-of-way will be given by the San Joaquin Valley people. The new road expects to reduce local freight 40 per cent. To prevent the road from purchase and absorption by a competitor the power to vote the subscribed and issued stock will be vested in the trustees, pledged to maintain and operate the food strictly as a competing line. Vacancies on the board of trustees are to be filled by a majority of the surviving trustees. Each new trustee will be pledged as the original fire. before October 1. A fine vein of coal has been uncarthed at Sterling, near the present terminus, and preparations are being made for shipping large quantities to Salt Lake City and other points. The Sterling Coal and Coise Company has been incorporated with a capitalization of $100,000, the stockholders being the same as those owning the San Pete Valley Railroad.

It is rumored that the next extension of the line will begin at once, and that the Nevada State line is the designated terminus. President Theodore Bruback has departed for Europe, where he expects to get capital for immediate work on continuing the line south. The extension from this city to Morrison consists of eight miles, and will cost about $80,000. The money is on hand, and all the construction bills will be paid, so it is reported, upon completion of the work.

This little fold has already become a factor in the commerce of Contral and Southern Utah. It extends from the Union Pacific at Nephl, through the fertile San Pete Valley into Manti, and parellels the Rio Grande Western for a dictance of fifteen miles. The road is narrow guage, fifty miles in length, and a feeder of the Union Pacific system. It takes much of the traffic from the Western, and has been the cause of much cutting of freight and passengers were carried to Nephi for nothing, and presented a chromo by the little road.

At the last meeting of the stockholders of the parrow guage, rade the arricles of passengers were carried to Nephi for nothing, and presented a chromo by the little road.

At the list meeting of the stockholders of the narrow guage road the articles of incorporation were amended so as to make Salt Lake City the northern terminus, and the State line of Nevada the southern terminus. It was also decided to put in broad-guage ties so that the track may be made standard guage at any time. The Secretary of the Interior has approved of surveys over government land for almost the entire northern extension. Plans and specifications of preliminary surveys are now pending in the office of the Secretary at Washington, and information that the surveys have been approved is expected daily. Those familiar with railroad schemes think that the San Pete Valley will never be built into Salt Lake City. They claim to have authority for saying that the road will be made standard gauge and a trackage right-of-way asked from the Union Pacific receivers for carrying trains over that system from Nephi to Salt Lake City—a distance of ninety miles. In this way the road will enter the metropolis of Utah, where, in all probability, it will connect with an Eastern line to be built over the Uintah Indian reservation, and through this route a new outlet will be opened to the Coast.

The plan of extension south from this city is to tap the rich coal and iron fields of Southern Utah and open the mines of southeastern Nevada. At this terminal the road will be opened to Los Angeles. Everything at this end of the line indicates a further extension of the little road, and within another year the entire 358 miles, as contemplated to be covered by the road will have the broad-gauge rails laid, and the trains will be hauling freight from the State of Nevada.

necessarily slow and only four witnesses were consequently examined during the entire day's session.

That part of the courtroom within the rails, reserved for litigants and their counsel, presented an animated and unusually business-like appearance yesterday. The long tables in front of the bench were arranged in L shape round the stenographer's table, Messrs. S. M. White, J. S. Chapman, E. L. Campbell and C. Monroe and Charles Hanlon of counsel for the contestants, sitting on the right hand, and Messrs. B. W. Lee, C. Silent, G. W. Wells and Alex Campbell, who represent the proponents, taking positions in the order named on the left hand. Stacks of law books, and piles of legal documents littered both tables in front of them.

For the accommodation of the litigants, seats were arranged behind the attorneys, Mrs. Goodspeed occupying a prominent position facing the jury box, her brother's children being ranged upon her left hand, and their grandmother and aunt upon her right, The children, a frail, fair-haired girl, about 16 years of age; a bright boy of 14, and a mischlevous little maid of 12, evinced a lively interest in the proceedings.

Facing the bench, and just inside the neid sat, taking copious notes of the testimony.

The witnesses for both sides being placed under the rule, the proceedings were not enlivened by the bevy of ladies, whom it had formerly taxed Balliff Martin's ingenuity to accommodate with seats within the bar.

The proceedings commenced with the opening address to the jury by Alex Campbell, Esq., on behalf of the proponents who announced that his clients not only expected to disprove all that the contestants claimed, but that they also expected to show that the will had been sealed up in May, 1886, and never again opened until after it was filed for probate.

THE TESTIMONY. THE TESTIMONY.

The first witness called for the contest-nts was Mrs. Mary M. Webb of Oakland

The first witness called for the contestants was Mrs. Mary M. Webb of Oakland, the mother of Mrs. Charles Pratt, who testified to the marriage of her daughter, the movements of the Pratts from that time until they settled in San Francisco, the births of their children, and her relations with Mrs. Annie Pratt, deceased. In her opinion, the decedent was not the same after the death of her son.
Mrs. Alice F. Lathrop, a daughter of the preceding witness, testified to having taken dinner with her sister and husband, Charles Pratt, in New York, on October 9, 1881, the date of their departure for California. She first met Mrs. Annie A. Pratt at her sister's wedding, but saw her several times after that.

A. W. Seaver, deputy county cferk, testified to the effect that when he first saw the will shown to him, there were no brass fastenings on it such as now hold it together, the sheets being merely tied with red tape. He believed that one of the deputies had affixed the brass fastenings. He saw the covelope in which the will was inclosed when the document was filed, but could not recollect what, if anything, was written on it, and was not present when it was opened. He did not count the pinholes on each sheet, and could not say from inspection whether the whole instrument as first seen by him was there now or not.

Mrs. Leonora Wakefield, the divorced wife of Charles Mansfield, was then called, and proved to be slightly deaf, which mistortune caused proponent's counsel considerable irritation, as she never heard their objections, and went on with her testimony smilingly and serenely, in spite of all their efforts to stop her.

crable irritation, as she never heard their objections, and went on with her testimony smilingly and serenely, in spite of all their efforts to stop her.

Her testimony was to the effect that she knew Mrs. Annie A. Pratt very intimately, and that, after the death of her softharles, she did not appear to be the same woman. That Mrs. Pratt had told her several times that she had remembered her in her will to the extent of $5000, and once showed her the will in the safe deposit vauits at the corner of Montgomery and Market streets, San Francisco. That she had heard the Mansfield family often discuss the matter, and was very anxious that she should make a will.

The examination of this witness occupied the attention of the court until noon, and upon being resumed after lunch, consumed the remainder of the day's session. It was frequently interrupted by objections on the part of proponent's counsel, and several times were the proceedings enlivened by heated debates of personal nature between counsel.

Upon cross-examination by G. Wiley Wells, Esq., the witness stated that she was married to Charles Mansfield in April, 1878, and had resided with him for many years at Wilmington, San Pedro and Los Angeles, but left him and got a divorce in 1891. Counsel then inquired into the witness's life and whereabouts since her marriage, her life in Salt Lake, her second marriage, her return to San Francisco.

So persistent was the questioning that the witness became greatly excited, fearing, evidently, that a trap had been ast for her, and she was trying to avoid it. Tears flowed freely for a mement, but she soon regained her composure. When asked whether or not sine stated to Mrs. Charles Adams and Mr. Knight at No. 335 Ellis street, San Francisco, that she was there without a penny, but that she had been offered $5000 to testify in behalf of the contestant in the contested will case, and she would take it, and that she would come down here and offer her services. WEEK OF PRAYER.

Another Large Attendance at the Y. W. C. A. Meeting.

Another Large Attendance at the Y. W. C. A. Meeting.

There was a good attendance at the gospel meeting of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday at 12 o'clock. Miss Jessie Chambers read the third verse of the twelfth chapter of Daniel, "And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever," and offered prayer. "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," was the first selection, and after prayer was sung "Just as I Am Without One Plea."

The topic of the day was "Soul Winning." Mrs. T. P. Ferguson then spoke on the first division of the topic for the day, namely, "The Workers."

She said, "every one is fitted by talents and gifts for some particular work or office, and if we fail to do our particular work perhaps it will never be done. We have an individual responsibility in the matter. To win souls we must be in touch with Jesus. "He that winneth souls is wise."

Mrs. Ferguson spoke of the work among the sailors, and said that the Lord Jesus must be very close at hand to give the necessary courage and patience for it.

"More Love to Thee, O, Christ" was sung and a service of sentence prayers followed this talk.

Rev. J. W. Campbell of the First Methodist Episcopal Church then spoke of the second division of the day's topic, "The Field." He described first the vision which came to Martin Luther in the sixteenth century when he was called out from the forms and ceremonies to see the field that was "white for the harvest."

Dr. Campbell said, "the field is large, we cannot see the boundaries of it. Our intention must be to take the whole world. We must make as large a claim as the minister who claimed the whole world for his parish. He shall have dominion from sea to sea and He shall refen from the river unto the uttermost parts."

"And the field is hard; hard as adamant, only in some places to be broken up by the bright plowshare of the gospel. But the harvest is a rich one, sometimes thundred."

Dr. Campbell paid this tribute to the Y.W.C.A. that it was a hundred."

Dr. Campbell paid this tribute to the Y.W.C.A. that it was a broader conception of the work; that it reached out alike for rich and poor, high and low.
In closing he said: "Cannot we take this city for Christ? Cannot we take the world? Let us have less of denominationalism and more concerted, systematic, well-planned work for the Master without asking for what church we were making the effort.

effort.
Miss Morse spoke of the Y.W.C.A. plans for new effort, and the service ended with singing "Throw Out the Life Line."
Topic for today, "Business and Social Obligations of Young Women," Rev. B. F. Coulter; "Intellectual Obligations of Young Women," Mrs. A. S. Averill.

ANNOYED AND ALARMED.

The Guarantee Company of Mexico

The Guarantee Company of Mexico in Hot Water.

(The Investor:) Considerable comment has been made upon the expose of the methods of the Mutual Guarantee Company of Mexico, which has appeared in the columns of the Investor, and the slick workers of the scheme are not a little annoyed and starmed at this interference with their operations. We are glad to see that The Times of this city continues to lend its powerful aid in the same direction. The concern is now being overhauled by the State Insurance Commissioner, who will promptly and energetically enforce the law for such cases made and provided.

An additional proof of the dishonesty of the agents of the affair, is the fact that they still continue to exhibit and call attention to the name of the leading Methodist preacher of this city (Rev. J. W. Campbell) as a holder of their "contracts" to the amount of $12,000, and assert that he has investigated their company, is satisfied with it, and paid his dues and entrance fees like everyone else. These assertions continue to be made in spite of the fact that the reverend gentleman has privately disclaimed any pecuniary interest in the affair. We think that this minister should take prompt and vigorous measures to stop the continued daily unauthorized use of his name in furtherance of a discreditable lottery scheme, and that he should make a public statement that would set the matter at rest.

Since writing the foregoing we learn that the agents of this unsavory scheme have yielded to the pressure applied, so far as to promise the Insurance Commissioner that they will at once suspend all further soliciting for business, until their legal right to do so has been allowed by a license, which they supect to get from the Commissioner after he shall have examined their application. Meanwhile the general manager of the concern has been telegraphed for to Mexico, and is coming north to take charge of his cone.

BADLY TREATED.

Experience of a Party of Visitors at the Courthouse.
S. W. Mosher and E. S. Wilsey of San Bernardino yesterday called at The Times office to protest against an outrage perpe-trated upon them by the janitor of the Courthouse. The gentlemen said they called at the Courthouse about 9 o'clock, carried at the Courthouse about 9 o'clock, accompanied by ladies, and were compelled to wait half an hour in the lobby while the janitor entertained one of his friends in the office. They then reported to the clerk of the Board of Supervisors, and, after being subjected to several insults from an assistant insults.

and, after being subjected to several insults from an assistant janitor, reached the top of the tower, the object of their trip to the city.

Both gentlemen were very indignant over the treatment they received. They said that the language used by the janitor, was simply disgraceful, and that his action was absolutely without excuse, as they gave him no cause whatever for the treatment received. The Courthouse being a public building, and one of the points of interest in the city, they thought that they would be welcome.

The matter will be brought officially to the notice of the Supervisors at once.

PACIFIC GOSPEL UNION.

Plans Proposed for Increasing Its Usefulness.

A correspondent writes to The Times on behalf of the Pacific Gospel Union, an or-ganization which is accomplishing much good, in a modest way, in extending temprotary aid to deserving men and women, who, from sickness or misfortune, are in need of help. The writer says he is as-sured that, if the sum of $250 per month were pledged in support of the enterprise, he present acting superintendent, C. Mason, would take hold of the work in earnest, with the object of building up in Los Angeles an institution similar to that of the San Francisco Christian Union, es-tablished by B. Fay Mills. It is proposed tablished by B. Fay Mills. It is proposed to secure a two-story building, provide neat, clean beds at 10 cents a night, and a wholesome breakfast at 10 cents; tickets to be purchased and distributed by benevolent people and societies. The enterprise is certainly a worthy one, and might be made an effective instrumentality for good. All persons interested are invited to confer with Mr. Mason at the Pacific Gospel Union.

SCOTT ARRAIGNED.

The Thief Will Be Examined This Morning.

Detective Goodman, after a close search, turned up the chain yesterday which W. E. Scott took with the gold watch from the dead body of Mrs. C. J. Johnson. The chain was found in the possession of a crib woman on Alameda street. The woman said that Scott had made her a present of the trinket. By some very good work Detective Goodman has been able to restore all of the stolen property able to restore all of the stolen property as well as to place Scott behind the bars. The msn was taken before Justice Austin yesterday afternoon and arraismed, ball being fixed in the sum of $1500, which he was unable to furnish. He will be examined this morning.

Among the articles taken from Scott's pockets was a letter from his sister, dated at Chicago, in which the writer begs the man to tell her how he happened to come to Los Angeles and what he intends to do.

We are showing a line ing the goods; everybody is asking $1.35 and $1.50 for this of 40-in. all-wool fancy dress goods in the latest styles for 60c a yard; this again demonstrates the fact that our prices on dress goods are the lowest ever made. We will sell you cape materials lower than you ever saw them, and in addition to this we will cut, fit and baste your cape free of charge. We still have a large assortment of fine all-wool and silk and wool dress goods that we are selling for exactly half price; they are big sellers. We are doubling up sales in the dress goods department. Why shouldn't we? The prices are certainly a strong inducement, and when you add to this the largest dress goods stock in the city you can readily see the good effects of this lowering of the profits in the large increase in the sales. The fall cloak trade is commencing. We have the largest stock we ever carried. We have never marked cloaks with so small profits. We expect to largely increase the cloak trade this season. WEATHER AND CROPS. The Weekly Bulletin for Southern California.

Following is the weather and crop bulle-tin of the Weather Bureau for Southern California for the week ending Septem-ranged below the seasonal averages, for while the days were warm and clear, the nights were cool, and in the coast districts frequently foggy, which caused the daily averages to show a deficient in heat com-pared with the normal temperature for a period of years. The damp, cool nights were favorable for gathering and curing on the whole was favorable for fruit-drying, which is near about ended for the season, except raisin-making, which is now in full operation. Dry plowing its being done for fall seeding, where the soil permits of this kind of work. Farmers are ready for the fall rains, and the earlier they start in the better they will be pleased. Detailed reports follow:

San Luis Obispo: The weather was favorable for threshing; the wheat and barley gaps were very light in many places. Fruit-drying is about finished: The highest temperature was 89 deg. and the lowest 46 deg. The sunshine was normal.

Ventura county — Bardsdale: Cooler weather with foggy nights prevailed, which were favorable for saving the bean crop, which will be lighter than even was first expected. Corn will be only an ordinary yield under water systems, and much of it is being cut for fodder, owing to the scarcity of feed.

Los Angeles county — Duarte: The weather has been favorable for fruit-drying, and with no bad weather it will soon be finished; only a few peaches remain to dry. Citrus fruit promises well. Highest temperature, 95 deg.; lowest, 52 deg. Pomona: The weather has been just right for drying peaches, prunes and pears. Prunes are about all in, and about twelve hundred tons have been cured; the fruit was not quite as barge as stated before it ripened, but the crop has been well cured. About four hundred tons of pears have been dried, and nearly as many canned and shipped fresh. Verdugo: Dry weather had the effect of shortening all late fruit crops where trees were not irrigated. Farmers are wishing for early and copious rains.

San Bernardino county — Chino: The weather was quite perfect for the beet harvest, and about eight hundred tons are being gathered daily; the beets are of good quality.

Orange county—Anahelm: The nights were exceedingly foggy and the days very warm, averaging about 90 deg, as the daily maximum. The weather was very favorable for harvesting sugar beets. Santa Ann: The weather has been very even from day to day, with frequ

AN IMPORTANT DECISION BY

The Postal Telegraph Company Can Construct Its Lines Along the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad.

In the United States Circuit Court yes-terday morning Judge Ross rendered his decision in the matter of the application of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Com-of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company for leave to construct its lines along the right-of-way of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad from The Needles to Mojave, which was recently submitted to him upon demurrer, ordering that said demurrer be overruled for the reasons set forth in a lengthy written opinion.

In deciding the question submitted to him, Judge Ross reviewed, the position of the Postal Cable Company, and the work which it had commenced and performed at some length, and determines that no more appropriate way to present its alleged rights could have been followed by the Posbal company than by intervening in the case pending before the court, thereby settling the questions raised by the Western Union Telegraph Company as to jurisdiction, etc.

In passing upon the legal status of the petitioner the court said:

"At the time of the passage of the act of July 24, 1866, the land constituting the right-of-way of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, from The Needles to Mohave, was a part of the domain of the United States. It was, therefore, in all respects subject to all the rights conferred by the act of July 24, 1866, upon any telegraph company then organized under the laws of any State to construct and maintain a telegraph line in any part of the United States.

"The Atlantic and Pacific Railway Company is undoubtedly entitled to a full protection of the right-of-way granted to it to the extent of its necessary and ordinary uses, for it has been seen the grant to telegraph companies expressly provides that such lines of telegraph shall not be so constructed or maintained as to interfere with the ordinary travel on the military or post roads. But the full protection of those rights does not exclude from its right-of-way any telegraph company embraced by the act of July 24, 1866, and which has accepted its conditions, whose lines of telegraph can be so constructed and maintained as not to interfere with the ordinary travel on such "Retaining these views in respect to the "Retaining these views in respect to the Congressional legislation upon the subject it is unnecessary to consider that portion of the contract of June 1, 1872, by which the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad undertook, as far as it could, to confer upon the Western Union Telegraphic Company the exclusive right for telegraphic purposes on and along its right-of-way. Whether the facilities asked for by the petitioner is within the scope of the ordinary duties of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company can best be determined upon the coming in of the answer and the making of proof."

At the request and by consent of counsel the Western Union Telegraph Company was given formal leave to intervene,

THE EAST SIDE.

The Police and the Tramp Problem-

Personal Mention.

The police are once more confronted by the tramp problem, large numbers of this professional non-working class being found in the willows and along the railroads daily. Ex-Officer J. R. Conlee, now a night watchman at the Southern Pacific yards, has brought in a half dozen or so every night lately, the empty box cars on the side tracks proving most inviting to the "hobos" looking for a place to sleep. Capt. McKeag yesterday found twenty-three more of the species during his trip up the river, and marched them out of town, and word has been received that seventy-five more are on the way from Barstow. Most of the men are new out here, very few old-timers appearing in the Barstow. Most of the men are new out here, very few old-timers appearing in the gang. Some are working men who would take jobs if offered them, but the ma-jority are simply and only genuine tramps. Kenesaw Post and Relief Corps will hold an open meeting or campfire at their hall in the Moore building on Friday evening of next week. A generous programme and the usual good time is promised.

and the usual good time is promised.

Tommorrow evening there will be a reception at the Congregational Church, given in honor of the new pastor, Dr. Dexter D. Hill, who has assumed full charge of his new work, and who preached on Sunday morning. He was greatly liked by those who heard him, and the object of the gathering tomorrow evening is to afford an opportunity to all, both of this church and of other denominations, to meet and become acquainted with the doctor and his wife.

The local Catholic fair which was to have taken place this month will now probably be made to wait until the last of October, a postponement having been decided upon in order not to conflict with the Orphans' fair to be held over town beginning October 1.

Business Fairly Brisk at the City Hall.

Meeting of the Fire Commissioner and Special Session of the Council.

The Patterson Case Drawing to Close—Testimony for the De-fense—Final Report in the Bradbury Estate.

Municipal business was fairly brisk yesterday. The Fire Commission acted on a number of important matters. The Council held an adjourned meeting in the afternoon, at which the ball was set rolling in the matter of calling bond electives. The license ordinance was further amended by making the tax on the business of sellng watches and jewelry at auction vir-ually prohibitive.

Fire Commission. RECOMMENDATIONS ON BIDS-ROUTINE BUSINESS.

The Fire Commission held its regular weekly meeting yesterday morning, there being a full attendence.

The Chief reported recommending that one or more of the present hydrants on New High street be connected with the eighteen-inch water main on that street. This, the recommendation stated, would give great additional are protection to an important district. The Chief was in-structed to request the City Water Commmended.

T. D. Stimson was heard in behalf of a seitition from himself, asking that he bellowed to burn oil for zuel in the Stimon Block at Third and Spring streets. The oil, the petition said, will be confined a steel tank one-fourth inch thick, the ame to be buried under ground and to contain about 1000 gallons.

Mr. Brodrick said that although the tranting of this request would be a violation of the present ordinance, yet when hat ordinance was enacted the prevailing pinion as to the safety of storing oil was different from what it is now. He was satisfied that if Mr. Stimson's request was granted the insurance on adjoining proposition of the prevail of the safety of the safety of the safety of the safety of storing oil to said saferent from what it is now. A petition of A. T. Currier, asking permission to erect a building on the south side of Third street just east of the Bradbury Block, the building in one or two particulars to not exactly conform to the building ordinance, was presented.

Building Superintendent Elsen, who was present, explained that the manner of construction for which permission is asked in this instance is in the case of certain exterior light wells to have the weight of this portion of the structure, practically all of it, rest on a steel framework, and have the walls of terra cotta and somewhat thinner than is required by the present ordinance.

The construction proposed, he said, is such as is being adopted in the East and was used in the Chronicle building at San Francisco. He had thought of issuing a permit without bringing the matter before the Fire Commission, but as the issuance of a permit for such form of construction would establish a precedent he preferred it should first receive the sanction of the board.

When the present ordinance was enferred it should first receive the sanction of the board.

When the present ordinance was enacted, Mr. Eisen said the extensive use of steel in constructing the framework was not understood as it is now.
On motion the petition was referred to Superintendent Eisen with power to act under the ordinance.

The bids for furnishing one or more combination chemical and hose wagons, as received by the Council several weeks ago, and referred to the Fire Commission, were considered. W. I. Hollingsworth was heard in behalf of the proposal submitted by Hawley, King & Co. as agent for the Boston Woven Hose Company. W. S. Moore spoke of the advantage of accepting the bid of the Fire Extinguisher Manufacturing Company of Chicago. The bid of the latter was to furnish the wagons at $1944 each, but Mr. Moore was permitted to indorse on the bid the statement that the company will furnish three of the wagons, delivered at Los Angeles, for $5240, which sum is $10 less than the proposal submitted by the Boston Woven Hose Company for the corresponding kind of wagons.

Vagous.

It was decided to recommend to the Council the acceptance of the amended proposal of the Fire Extinguisher Manufacturing Company of Chicago.

Adjourned.

The action of the board in considering proposal after it had been amended by he bidder was spoken of about the City sall with a good deal of disfavor, as being near of injustice to the other bidder. In the part of the board, however, it is explained that the proposal submitted the Boston Woven Hose Company alled for a hose wagon with Babcock exinguishers, but without chemical tanks it he size and kind needed. It was stated to be the expectation to use the new ragons for the outlying portions of the own, where in many cases it will not be carcitable to go with other apparatus of het kind, and hence they should be fully supped with chemical extinguishing facilities.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

The Courts. PATTERSON ON HIS DEFENSE BRADBURY ESTATE.

The trial of the case against Henry Patterson, charged with having shot at Engineer Martin on the night of July 12, last, was resumed before Judge Smith and jury in Department One yesterday in the tors, most of whom were railroad m dence to put in, H. C. agent at Burbank, and Deputy Sheriff Marsh being called for the purpose of showing that Patterson's alleged friend James Colvin was a myth. Deputy Sheriff W. B. Cline and Deputy James Colvin was a myth.

Deputy Sheriff W. B. Cline and Deputy County Clerk Forrester were called and examined upon details of minor importance with reference to the exhibits.

This closed the case for the people, and the defense thereupon called the following witnesses in rapid succession: Simon Fraser, Mrs. Fraser, Miss Nellie Richie, R. Schiver, A. McNally, H. H. Appel, W. O. Barr, G. F. Hodgman, H. R. Jackson, D. H. Ezer, J. B. Lebership, C. A. McDonald, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Patterson, J. Comstock, Allen Johnson, W. H. Auble and W. H. Clune.

Some of these were merely character witnesses, but by others it was shown that immediately after the shot had been fired a man had been seen driving in company with another man in a light suit and brown hat earlier in the evening; that from actual measurements and experiments made, it was impossible for anyone to have seen the flash of the gun from the points sworn to by some of the witnesses for the prosecution; that suar a person as Colvin did exist, and had applied for membership in the A.R.U.; and that the language used by Patterson with reference to the action of Martin in taking the first train out was not so strong as had been sworn to by witnesses for the State.

The defendant, Henry Patterson, then with reference to the action of Martin in taking the first train out was not so strong as had been sworn to by witnesses for the State.

The defendant, Henry Patterson, then took the stand and testified in his own behalf to the effect that he had lived here about twelve years, and had been in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company as an engineer almost all of that time. That he first met Colvin on July 1, when the latter told him that he was a black-smith in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company. That on July 12, he again met Colvin and at his request indorsed his application for membership in the A.R.U. Prior to that day Colvin had asked him to go up to the Laguna ranch with him sometime, and they agreed that day to drive up there. They met by appointment at 2 p.m., and went over to East Los Angeles, where they separated, as he wanted to go home and tell his wife where he was going. He then went to the livery stable and drove along Downey avenue until he met Colvin and picked him up, about 4 o'clock.

Colvin had some packages and a shotgun and at his request he then turned back and went to Burbank, Colvin having changed his mind about going to the Laguna ranch. When they got to Burbank Colvin got out of the buggy and went into the depot, where he way back Patterson saw a rebbit cross the road at Sepulveda, and got out of the buggy, taking with him the shotgun and some carridges, but did not get a shot at the rabbit. He remembered meeting Miss Ritchie just after passing the big wash near Glendale. When they reached the water tank, about 8 p.m., Colvin said: "I'll. get out and put a torpedo on the track and scare that engineer."

He then took the lines and as Colvin got out asked him what he was doing with the torpedoes and he said: "Oh, I've got them, all the same." Colvin went at a right angle toward the railroad track, but he sat in the buggy until the train passed, when he drove into the trees and tied his horse until Colvin came back and handed him some shells, which he put in his coat pocket. Colvin went to the rear end of the buggy with the gun, but witness did not know what he was doing there. He afterward started away from the buggy, and Patterson then got in and drove in the direction he had run. He was arrested at the corner of Pepper avenue and San Fernando road. He was then brought to Walnut street and turned over to Officer Benedict and party. Benedict searched him, finding some shells and an envelope containing some and leave the horse at taken to the County Jail. Before reaching Pasadena avenue he requested Mr. Durand to take him home and leave the horse at the stable. When crossing the street-car track at the Buena Vista bridge the buggy gave a heavy joit, throwing them together, but he did not attempt to break away from the officers.

The cross-examination of the defendar was commenced, but before the prosecuting attorneys had proceeded far court ad journed for the day and the matter wen over until this morning.

Savings Bank.

(San Francisco Chronicle, Tuesday:)
Gen. John F. Sheehan, receiver of the People's Home Savings Bank, has just returned from a trip to the South, where he succeeded in making several advantageous arrangements for the benefit of the bank and its assets. During his trip he arranged to lease or rent twentyfive different pieces of land belonging to the bank and located in San Diego, Riverside, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and orange counties. One piece of land in San Diego will be sold at a figure much greater than was offered in this city.
The orange lands belonging to the bank are in excellent condition and one in Rediands will give a fair crop this year.
The purpose of the receiver is to sell where he may to advantage and to lease where he can, thus relieving the bank from trouble and avenues and receiviting where he can, thus relieving the bank from trouble and expense and resulting in a profit, which under any other conditions would be out of the question. In Madera county all the property except one plece has been leased for one year, a longer period being denied as there may be a prospect of a sale before that time. Gen. Sheehan has hired two rooms in the Mills building for the defunct bank, and all that remains of the institution will be removed there next Monday. By doing this Gen. Sheehan effects a monthly saving of $600 to the bank, being able to reduce the force of employees, as well as curtail the great expense incident to such an establishment as that in the Flood building. where he can, thus relieving the bank

"John Reeves, you are charged with hav ing been found on Alameda street in a state of intoxication. What have you to say to the charge—guilty or not guilty?" Justice Austin put on his most severe loo the prisoners in the Police Court yesterday, as he asked the stereotyped question which has rung in the ears of so many bibulous

At the sound of the Justice's voice the old man answered cheerfully "here, sir," and, gathering his bony frame together, stood up and looked amiably at his interrogator. He seemed at loss what to say, and, after "sizing him up," the Justice said again, somewhat impatiently: "Well, guilty or not guilty?"

"Oh, guilty, Your Honor," replied the old man, evidently relieved that no harder question had been asked him.

"Where do you live?" was the next sharp inquiry put by the man who supplies the unemployed with work on the chaingang at frequent intervals.

"At the Soldiers' Home, Your Honor," was the willing response.

"What did you come to town for?"

Kensey and Harry Gordan had dis turbed the peace in a First street saloon and while they were enjoying themselves on the sawdust floor in a sort of roughand-tumble fight Officer McGraw sauntered in and took them both to the police station. Kensey was a little man and he claimed that Gordan struck him first. The row was all over 50 cents, which Gordon had borrowed from Kensey, and which the former, in a fit of absentmindedness, had failed to return. Kensey was released, but Gordon was assessed $10.

A local clergyman of the Methodist persuasion got wind of the adair, and delivered a sermon attacking the librarian (a woman, by the way.) and containing this fervent supplication: 'O Lord, vouchsafe thy saving grace to the Hbrarian of the Los Angeles City Library, and cleanse her of all sin, and make her a woman worthy of her office. The librarian has promptly brought suit for damages against the offending preacher. OUR WOOL MARKET.

THE EFFECTS OF THE WILSON

A Fictitious Statement Exposed-Leading San Francisco Merchants Supply Facts and Fig-ures as They Exist.

(San Francisco Chronicle, September 14:) (San Francisco Chronicle, September 14:)
An article was published in a morning paper in this city on Tuesday last and an editorial paragraph on Wednesday, purporting to represent the present condition of the wool market and the beneficent effects upon it of the Wilson tariff bill. There need be no hesitation in pronounce. There need be no hesitation in pronouncing the article false in every particular, a gross misrepresentation of facts and a libel on the wool merchants of this city. To demonstrate the utter falsity of the article it is not necessary to assume hypothetical cases. A "condition, not a theory," confronts the wool men, and the representatives of all farms with a sizely representatives of all firms with a single exception join in the chorus to denounce the publication of such untruths. From what they say it is evident that prices in-what they say it is evident that prices instead of advancing have declined, that business is in a wretched condition, and that the beneficent effects of the Wilson tariff will only be reaped and appreciated by the foreign competitors of American wool dealers and growers.

That these assertions are all they profess to be and are not political vaporings the following interview will demonstrate. It will be noticed, furthermore, that all the men interviewed are representative men, well known in, the community, and men who would be only too happy to report, if they could honestly do so, a condition of affairs other than which actually exists. Ballard & Hall have their warehouses and offices on the west corner of Fifth and Bluxome streets. They are wool brokers, scourers and commission merchants. Isaac R. Hall of this firm and Charles H. Abbott, a prominent purchasing wool broker for Eastern houses, were seen and contributed.

R. Hall of this firm and Charles H. Abbott, a prominent purchasing wool broker for Eastern houses, were seen and questioned in the latter's office as to the effects of the new tariff bill. Mr. Abbott said:

"There is no truth in the article at all. It is full of misleading statements and is wholly unreliable. The statement, that prices went up from 1 to 3 cents a pound since the passage of the bill is a deliberate misrepresentation of the facts. Just before the passage of the bill, when Cleveland denounced it and Gorman said either his bill should pass or the McKinley bill remain, some felt sure that the Wilson bill, removing the tariff on wool, would not pass. Prices then went up from 1 to not pass. Prices then went up from 1 to 3 cents and the sales in Boston for the three weeks prior to the passage of the bill were heavier than ever in the history of the wool trade. Immediately on the passage of the bill prices dropped, and the market is in a deplorably poor condition today.

of the wool trade. Immediately on the passage of the bill prices dropped, and the market is in a deplorably poor condition today.

"Now I am not going to talk off the book. I will quote figures. We are buying today Humboldt and Mendocino spring wools in grease at 11 to 12 cents, the former price on which was 18 to 25 cents a pound. San Joaquin spring wools are now 4 to 6 cents, where they were 14 to 18 cents. As for secured wools, under the McKinley tariff they sold for 30 to 55 cents; under the Wilson tariff they are quoted at 18 to 33 cents. It would have been an easy matter to have verified the statement that the Wilson tariff had advanced prices 1 to 3 cents; but perhaps that was not desired, as the advices show that the purchases made at advanced rates occurred, all of them before August 28."

Mr. Hall assented to all that was said, and took up the thread of conversation: "Where is the wool-grower going to get off? He will not get enough to pay him for shearing and marketing the wool under this beneficent Wilson tariff. Previous to August 28 we had plenty of orders; since then I do not know of a single order from the East having been placed in this market. The leading commission houses in Boston write: "We do not intend to do any buying until after the auction sales in London on the 18th."

"A statement is made in the Examiner article that wool warehouses are empty, leaving it to be inferred that the bouses have been so great that the houses have been cleared out. This is only half a truth. It was wool sales that emptied them, but the reason is that the houses have been cleared out. This is only half a truth. It was wool sales that emptied them, but the reason is that the houses have been cleared out. This is only half a truth. It was wool sales that emptied them, but the reason is that the houses have been cleared out. This is only half a truth. It was wool sales that emptied it and the latest and best authority, Dockham's Mercantile Directory, which mentions every little mill in the country, does not men any authority on the subject.

Filint & McLennan, wool sorters and scourers, were both found at their offices, south corner of Fifth and Bluxome streets.
B. P. Filint said: "Wool is selling today for 40 per cent. less than when Cleveland went into office. The best offer on scoured wool is now 3 cents less than on the day before the Wilson tariff bill was passed. The only results of this bill have been to send the foreign market up and the United States market down.

The only results of this bill have been to send the foreign market up and the United States market down.

"Now let me point out another ambiguous statement in the article parading the beneficent effects of the new fariff on wool. It is claimed that more milts have started up since the bill was passed. This may be true, but why? The tariff on manufactured goods will not be removed until January 1, 1895. The spring goods of American manufacturers must be out before them; in fact, by December 1, but then what? Then, one of two things must happen; the hachinery must come to a standstill or wages must be greatly reduced. It should be remembered, too, that about 80 per cent. of the mills have been closed down pending this tariff debating.

Jacob Woolner, wool broker, summed up the present condition of the wool market in a few short sentences. He said: "Wool today is from 1 to 2 cents lower than it was three weeks ago. The outlook for all California wools since the passage of the Wileon tariff bill is very poor indeed, in fact, manufacturers in the East don't want any of it. They will take foreign wools in preference and will get low-priced foreign wools in competition with California wool."

I spac Harris, of Platshek & Habris, dealers in wool, bildes, pelts, etc., was very priced foreign wools in competition with California wool."

Isaac Harris, of Platshek & Harris, dealers in wool, hides, pelts, etc., was very ready to express his opinions of the condition of the wool trade, which he did to the following effect: "The Examiner printed on September 12 an editorial on "The Pffect of Free Wool." The editor fortifical his position by quoting from the local columns of his paper on the litth inst. When that journal, in its editorials, misrepresents facts on the filmsy authority of its local columns, we feel that the public should be homestly informed as to the condition of the wool trade, which has been so outrageously treated by the party in power."

so outrageously treated by the party in power."

"In the commercial columns of the Journal referred to on the 12th inst. can be read trade reports fiatly contradicting the local columns of the 11th and the editorial of the 12th. One as undoubtedly written for the trade, while the other is positively written for politics. When Cleveland took his seat, Southern spring clip sold for 14 cents, today's price is 6 cents; Humboldt spring clip sold for 12 cents, today's price is 6 cents; Humboldt spring clip sold for 22 cents, today's price is 11½ cents; mountain fall clip sold for 12 cents, today's price is 6 cents; mutton sheep, per head, sold for $2.50, today's price is $1.50.

"On every butcher's block can be seen the evidence of the cheapening effect of free trade, where mutton and lamb are being sold at retail for 8 to 10 cents a pound. This State loses in the depreciation of the value of its swool clip fully $2,000,000 and on its sheep $6,000,000, making the total loss to sheep raisers and Sute $8,000,000. This does not include the monetary depreciation of land used for pasture.

"We must admit that the dermer buys this clothing for a little less money than be formerly did, but he misses the rent for his stubble field, which was more than sufficient to buy all the clothing he wore. The Democratic newspaper mentioned, ignores the wool-grower emitrely and treats wool as something only produced at this city which is about on a par with and who never owned a cent's worth of any wool mill.

"During that period of uncertainty, when many people thought Congress would adjourn mithout passing any tariff bill, we had a fairly active wool market, based solely on the daily doings of Congress; but since the bill has been passed trade has been dull and prices have declined, and today we are looking to London for quocations."

B. Sheldeman of the firm of Brown Bros. & Co., owners of the Oregon City mills, was asked what he, as a manufacturer, had to say of the prospects of the business. He said: "Il have, as a matter of course, watched legislation in

Now, who is going to pay that $46.20? The purchaser is go

Facts About Wool from a Non-partisan Trade Journal. The Grocer and Country Merchant, a weekly trade journal published at San Francisco by G. W. Burton, formerly of attempting to show that the California wool industry had received a great impetus under the new tariff. As it is a non-politwool industry had received a great impetus under the new tariff. As it is a non-political journal, the charge of partisanship cannot properly be brought against the Grocer and Country Merchant, and its statements in the premises are, therefore, entitled to the added weight of disinterestedness. After declaring that "each and every purported statement of fact" in the Examiner's article is grossly false, it says: "When the Senate tariff conferees met those of the House of Representatives and told them "there is our bill; you can take it or leave it; it is that or nothing," and when the letter of the President to Mr. Wilson was made public, there was a wide-spread feeling that no tariff bill at all could pass at present. Gambling on that chance, and convinced that asking prices for our wools were based on a discounting of most of the effects to result from free wool, speculators thought they could mot lose much if it did pass, and that they stood to make substantial profits if it failed to pass, and jumped in and bought and other northern clips. The best prices paid were about 13 cents for fine Humboldt and other northern clips. The peneral run of prices was a cent or two higher than wools had been offering at when a bill with wool on the free list seemed liable to pass, Had the bill failed to pass, the buyers expected to, make a great deal of money out of their venture. It passed—and since then the business in wool here has been next to nothing. Northern wools, which sold at 12 to 13 cents during those few days of speculation, or similar fleeces, are offered today at 8½ cents and no buyer few days of speculation, or similar fleeces, are offered today at 8½ cents and no buyer will make an offer. Wools of other classes which sold during this speculative venture at 7 to 10 cents, are pressed on the attention of buyers today at 4 to 7 cents, and no one will touch them. The wools here are offered freely at 3 to 8½ cents for all grades and classes. Supposing it takes three or four pounds of these wools in the grease to make one of scoured wool, even then you have scoured wool at 12 cents to 25 cents per pound. Did any one ever know wool to be so cheap before? Canada stood with ricks of bales of wool on our border, which could not come in under the duty, but which has come in since. Wools bought here at 12 to 13 cents when the bill seemed doomed to defeat, are offered at resale in referred to in the article above are so of-fered, and cannot be resold even at a substantial loss.

Reception.

PASADENA, Sept. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) The charge of embezzlement made by Frank Becker against Frank Burnham fell very flat in City Recorder Resister's court this morning, when the preliminary hearing was given the case. It will be remembered that Becker claimed that a ring he had given to Burnham as collateral security for a 550 peace bond had been changed before its delivery to him, and instead of a jewel he was given aworthless ministion, whereupon he made a complaint against Burnham charging him with having substituted a glass diamond for the alleged real stone. The story of Becker, the complaining witness, was substantially the same as the report previously given in this paper—that while he was in itil in default of giwing a peace bond, he applied to Burnham for relief, and finally got it upon depositing a ring for security. Other witnesses were examined, but the most important one was Jailer Henry of Los Angeles, whose testimons showed that while Becker was a "trusty" in the jail he stole a ring which had been the property of Ewing, a criminal, supposing it to be a diamond, but which the officers knew at the time was an imitation. He and other witnesses gave evidence to show that the ring which Becker received back from Burnham was the one which was stolen from the jail office. The evidence was so crushing against the proceedings which resulted in the dismissal of Henry as Under Sheriff, and Jailer Kennedy at the time the ring disappeared from the tot of personal property taken from the prisoner Ewing.

Y.M.C.A RECEPTION.

In Strong's Hall Tuesday evening a large number of the members and friends of the Young Men's Christian Association large number of the members and friends of the Young Men's Christian Association assembled to welcome the general secretary, George Taylor, who has been absent six months in Europe. One of the first features of the evening to attract general attention were the decorations, which had been tastfully and elaborately executed by Miss Dahoff of the Christian Church and a corps of assistants.

The reception was presided over by Dr. W. D. Turner. During the evening a quartette, composed of Mesers. E. F. Brown, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Wilhelmer and H. G. Simpson favored their hearers with two appropriate selections. Rev. Mr. Cowan offered prayer. Miss Bossley favored the audience with a vocal solo, adding much to the evening's entertainment. Miss York favored the audience with the recitation, "Which Shall It Be," which was heartily received.

Prof. Hamilton, in an apropriate speech, welcomed the general secretary to his home and work.

In his response, Mr. Taylor had words of praise for those who had stood by the work during the six months of his absence. He spoke touchingly of his meeting with his parents, brothers and sisters in England. He contrasted the climate of southern Italy with that of Southern California, and conclusively showed that the latter was better. In closing he paid a loving tribute to Rev. C. E. Harris, who has so lately passed away.

Prof. Meine then favored the audience with three violin solos, which were enthusiastically applauded. An informal reception followed.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) The Santa Fe road has been pushing San Diego's fete upon the attention of Santa Monicans, and several people have responded by a visit to the Southern Bay City. Among those already gone are W. S. Vawter and wife, James Gray, J. S. Wilson and Charley St. John. Albert Ryan was acquitted by Justice Bryant at The Palms on Tuesday upon the charge of stealing a bathing suit from the North Beach people. He admitted having the suit, but claimed to have bought it of another boy. The case took to The Palms, not a cloud of witnesses, exactly, but a carriage load of people who traveled to and from in a cloud that left its mark upon them all. The roads down this way are now excessively dusty and are uncomfortably full of chuck-holes.

Opening of the County Fair-Notes

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) The County Fair opened Tuesday night, but notwithstanding the season has been an unusually dry one, the display in all departments of horticulture and viticulture is very fine, and apparently fully up to the standard of last year. The exhibit of corn, wheat, oats, fruit and vegetables from San Marcos Valley, grown without irrigation, is particularly notable for its excellence. Great regret is felt at the near departure of Col. Kellogg and the other officers of the Tenth Regiment, U.S.A., the orders for a change of station having been received from the War Department. Col. Kellogg is very popular, more so than any officer who ever commanded this post.

Two prominent medicos of this city became involved in a war of words at the Postoffice Tuesday evening over a small political matter, and almost before bystanders were aware of what was taking place, a Republican-Democratic scrap had been incubated, and the fusionists began to mix themselves together in a very undignified manner, to say the least.

The scrimmage only lasted a few moments, however, before friends interceded and the medicine men were urgently requested to each go his way peacefully and devote his attention hereafter to the practice of his profession, and let politicians establish the boundaries of their own fences. It don't pay doctors to talk politics, anyhow. Leave that for newspaper men. They can lambast one another to beat time and not get mad about it either.

He has regained consciousness, and remembers how he fecelved the ugly cut between the eyes. This, he says, was done when he jumped in front of the horse to grab him by the head, the end of one of the shafts taking him squarely between the eyes, breaking the bridge of the nose and making an ugly hole in his head. This blow knocked him down, and the horse, buggy and carriage that had been hooked on to by the runaway all passed over him. He was unconscious from that time until several hours after the accident. He has been removed to his mother's home, where he is being properly cared for.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) At 2 o'clock this afternoon the residence of Horace Clark on Sixth street, between C and D, was discovered to be on fire, and within a few minutes it and another house was burned. Mrs. Robert Killifer first discovered the curtain in the residence of Mr. Clark to be burning, and hastened to turn the garden hose on, but the water falled to run because of some stoppage. Before she could get a bucket of water the flames had gained too much headway for her to overcould get a bucket of water the fames had gained too much headway for her to overcome. She was joined in her fight by Waiter Wagner, and soon others came, and the fire alarm was turned in. When the hose was first coupled the stoppage seemed to affect it also, as it was several minutes before there was sufficient pressure to throw any stream, and the house was beyond saving, and all the furniture and other contents of the house went up in flames.

The next house, also owned by Mr. Clark, but occupied by Robert Killifer, who moved into it recently, was also burned, but most of the contents were saved.

The third house, also one of Mr. Clark's, was badly burned on one side. Another house, owned by George Cooley, but occupied by N. Diamond, was burned some upon the roof and side, but not badly. During the burning the flames caught in the large pepper tree beside the Clark residence and shot through it like a flash of gunpowder, making a very fine spectacle.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The

Mr. Clark had $3200 insurance upon his houses, but the two that were destroyed had not enough insurance to more than half cover the total loss. Fortunately there was but little wind, or several other houses in the block would have gone. The fire boys worked like heroes to save what property they could.

He started back just before midnight, and had scarcely gone beyond the city limits of Riverside when a man in the road accosted him and asked for a ride, and was taken in. Being compelled to alight from the buggy, he left the horse in charge of the stranger, who applied the whip and drove off. Jay walked on home and reported what had happened. In the meanime the stranger drove to East Riverside, and to the barn of Dr. Ell F. Brown, into which he went, it is supposed for the purpose of taking some plunder. It is said by men of long experience and good judgment, who have this week passed through orchard after orchard in this valley, that in all instances where heavy fertilization has occurred, the orange trees are literally weighted down with young oranges, and that wherever this has been light or none at all, there is scarcely any fruit, except on the younger trees, but as to the old ones, the fact holds true. The feeling is gaining ground fast, too, that the commercial fertilizers are much better for the purpose than the ordinary barnyard manures. Some of the ranchers intend trying the experiment more fully in a systematic manner this coming winter. Of course, a proper analysis of the soil would be necessary to determine the most subcessful formula for the fertilizer.

Many Pomonans will remember Mrs. M. V. Sturgess, who spent several months in Pomona last winter and spring for her health, and will be sorry to hear that she passed away on September 17 at Browning, Mo.

Rev. F. W. Adams is reported too ill to be seen by visitors this afternoon.

An alarm of fire was rung out yesterday afternoon, bringing out the town and fire boys. It proved to be two of Lou Fleming's boys—his five-year-old twins—playing in his barn with a candle and matches; but fortunately it started in the manger where there was but little haystraw, and before it could reach the loft where the hay, etc., was stored, it was extinguished by the use of the yard hose before the fire boys could reach the scene. A little more, and it would have proven a serious affair.

CLAREMONT.

CLAREMONT, Sept. 25.—(Special Correspondence.) Pomona College opens very auspiclously. There are about fifty new students, a considerable increase over a year ago. There are several changes in the faculty. Miss Robinson, formerly of Occidental College, takes Miss Spaulding's place for the term, as Miss Spaulding is East doing work in her department. Miss Parker, who comes very highly recommended from Carlton, has already won general favor, and will prove a great acquisition to Pomona College.

The ladybird beetles are being brought in great numbers to this vicinity. At least eight parties have gone to Hon. Ellwood Cooper's for the purpose of securing these beetles. It is safe to say that between 50,000 and 100,000 have been turned loose in the orchards about Pomona and Claremont in the last three weeks.

It is a matter of wonderment that so few beetles are to be found in our orchards of the several colonies previously intro-on the one hand-ruined garments on the other. That will be the result of your trying to save money by using poor, cheap washing-powders, instead of Pearline. Just consider. How much could you save in a year if you bought the cheapest and most worthless? And how far would it go toward paying for the things ruined in a single month? You can't save anything by buying cheap wash-ing-powders. The way to save money in washing is to use what has been proved to be absolutely safe. That is Home-made Fruit-driers.

(Pacific Rural Press:) California dress nearly all her fruit by sunshine in the open air, but there are times and places even in California when a house-drier is very useful, and to get one of large capacity at a low cost will be desirable to many people. We have evidently something to learn on this subject from Oregon, where a house-drier is a desiratum. Sceretary S. A. Clarke of the Northwestern Fruitgrowers' Association publishes a bulletin on the subject of building driers, which may be regarded as the outcome of large experience on the part of Northern fruitmen. He approves the plan of A. H. Carson of Grant's Pass, which is to secure a current of hot air over and under each tray, to carry off the moisture with sufficient draught, and not leave a body of fruit to sweat in its own vapors.

Carrying out this idea on a small plan one can build a drier twenty feet long and about fifteen feet wide, with a furnace of firebrick, arched to be three feet high and chirty inches wide, with ash and draughtroom underneath. The furnace to be eniclosed in eight-inch brick walls at least ten feet high and six feet wide. The fruitdrying chamber is to be yet above this, and the hot-air chambers to be carried up as high as the trays extend, the same width of six feet. Dr. Sharples has seventeen trays on the same side and double furnaces, but with a single furnace one could have those trays thirty inches wide and three feet long, and shove in from the outside, it being arranged to leave a space for the escape of hot air, the egress of which is controlled by narrow crevices left along the upper edge of the tray that holds the fruit. These spaces correspond to the pressure, and can commence at one-fourth of an inch with the top tray, and increase to one and one-fourth inches at the bottom, the increase being a tenth of an inch with the top tray, and increase to one and one-fourth inches at the bottom, the increase being a tenth of an inch with the top inches in the pipes made of best heavy iron. This devendance, taken from a col bottom trays to prevent burning the fruit. To secure draft and equal distribution of heat, there is a high apex to the dryer; it slants up sharply eight or ten feet, and then the hot air escapes in a lift the whole length of the dryer, thirty feet, made by standing up scantling and eiding it up, say twenty feet high, to leave a space four inches wide—width of scantling. This is calculated to insure good draft of air through the trays and equal heat. The fruit cannot be so thick on the trays when the heat passes through them as it can when it passes over them, as provided in the first plan.

In either case it is better to dry the fruit gradually to secure the best results. fruit gradually to secure the best results. Petite prunes can usually be cured in-side of twenty-four hours, and so can most recite prunes can usually be cured inside of twenty-four hours, and so can most Italiams, but experiments made by Mr. Dosch hast year show that a better grade of fruit, with more net weight of product can be had by taking more time. To put it at an average, I should say that sixteen to twenty hours for smaller sizes will be best, and ordinary Italians, that grade forty to fifty to the pound, should require thirty-six hours, and large silver prunes, that will grade twenty-five to thirty-five to the pound, require forty-eight hours. Too intense a heat will cause waste, while a moderate heat will cure the best fruit and give the best results. I HEARTILY of the board of bishops, having been elected in 1888.

Bishop Fitzgerald was educated for the law, graduating from the law school of Princeton. He was admitted to the bar and practiced law for several years. In 1862 he gave up his law practice and joined the Newark conference. He at once became successful in the ministry. In 1878 he was made presiding elder, and served successfully in three districts. In 1881 he was elected recording secretary of the Missionary Society, in which position he remained until elected bishop, in 1888. His official residence is New Orleans.

Y. M. C. A. Classes.

The evening educational classes of the Young Men's Christian Association will open next week, and will comprise practically the same branches taught last year. These will include Spanish, bookkeeping, penmanship, shorthand, vocal music, elocution, guitar, drawing and other studies, under a strong corps of instructors.
